Senate Passes Farm Bill

Approval In House Is Possible Today

Second-Round Bill Features Billion Dollar Soil Bank

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate accepted a compromise version of the "second round" farm bill Tuesday, passing it on a voice vote and sending it to the House, where legislative action may be completed Wednesday.

The bill is tailored closely to President Eisenhower's pattern. Its big feature is a $1,200,000,000 soil bank system for paying farmers to cut down their production.

The bill was agreed upon by a Senate-House Conference Committee earlier in the day. Prospects appeared bright for a favorable House vote and for Eisenhower's acceptance of the measure as a substitute for the bill he vetoed April 16.

Top farm spokesmen for both parties were lukewarm in their comments on the compromise during the Senate debate, which lasted less than an hour.

'Fair'
Sen. Ellender (D-La.), chairman of the Senate-House Conference Committee, contented himself with explaining the provisions of the agreement and calling them "fair."

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), senior GOP member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, commented: "Although I do not believe the bill will be nearly as effective as some of its advocates hope, I do believe it is the best that can be secured at this session of Congress."

Asked by reporters earlier whether anything in the compromise bill might invite a veto, Ellender exclaimed: "Not Great God! No!"

'Harmonious'
The senator reported "everything was harmonious" as the committee finished ironing out a number of differences between the bill passed by the Senate last Friday night and the measure approved by the House May 3.

Another member of the committee, Rep. Poage (D-Tex.), commented:

"It's not what anybody wants, therefore it must be a pretty good bill."

Its major provision is the soil bank program, which Eisenhower requested, to give farmers up to $1,200,000,000 a year in government benefits for withdrawing land from the production of crops already in surplus.

Ellender said the biggest trade in the conference was the Senate's agreement to drop its provision that the soil bank need not be put in operation this year in return for House acceptance of generally lower price supports for feed grains.

One of the main reasons why Eisenhower killed the first farm bill was that it provided for a return to high, rigid price supports for basic crops.

As for the soil bank, the House had voted to require Secretary of Agriculture Benson to start it operating this year; the Senate had said only that he should do so to the extent practicable.

Rep. Poage had described the Senate language as a "political gimmick" under which money could be channeled to "doubtful districts" where the administration might need votes in November.

Although the House language, accepted by the conferees, directs Benson to start the program this year, it is not expected to get into full swing until next year, because much of the nation's crops have already been planted.

Non-Grad Operated On 7,000

Man, 69, Admits He's No Doctor

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A man who said he never had been graduated from a medical school said in District Court Tuesday he had performed more than 7,000 operations on inmates of Minnesota state institutions between 1919 and 1927.

The man is Davis Stern, also known as Dr. Davis Stern. He is 69 and lives at a hotel here.

He pleaded guilty to a charge of practicing healing without a basic science certificate. Stern said that as an employee of the state he had performed appendectomies, goiter and stomach operations at the St. Cloud Reformatory, Stillwater Prison and mental institutions in the state.

John Garrity, assistant county attorney, said many details of Stern's moves were lacking, including how he obtained a post as surgeon at the state institutions more than 35 years ago. Garrity indicated there would be no further investigation.

Lab Boss
Stern testified that at one time he was in charge of the Minnesota State Board of Health Laboratory, venereal disease division. He said that with the exception of 10 years, he has been practicing "healing" without a license in Minnesota since 1919. He added he lived in New York and Chicago from 1927 to 1937.

Stern said he had attended medical school for a short time at New York University and that his last year there was in 1907.

He was charged specifically with treating Robert Peck, manager of a hotel here. He said he made an examination and informed the manager he was suffering from high blood pressure.

He told the court his only income at present is two $25 monthly checks he receives from two friends and a self-employment insurance pension check of $90 a month. He maintained he was not charging individuals fees for his medical services.

Judge H. R. Rogers imposed a one-year county jail sentence and stayed it for one year, ordering Stern to turn over all his medical instruments to Minneapolis General Hospital.

Two Escape From Gage County Jail

Sheriff, Wife Are Locked Up

Lincoln Star Special
BEATRICE, Neb.—Law enforcement officers throughout the state were searching Tuesday night for two escapees from the Gage County jail.

The two men, believed to be armed, were William Johnson of Beatrice and Thomas Mathes of Tawhuska, Okla., who feigned sickness, then attacked Sheriff Ned Maxwell and threatened Mrs. Maxwell to make good their escape about 9:05 p.m.

According to Mrs. Maxwell, the sheriff went from his living quarters to the jail area (in the same building) when the men called to him. When asked what was wrong, Mathes said that he was ill.

Knocked Out
When the sheriff entered the jail area, one of the prisoners knocked him out temporarily. The sheriff recovered consciousness quickly and began to struggle with the two men.

Mrs. Maxwell, hearing the commotion, went to investigate and, upon entering the jail, was seized by one of the men who threatened her with bodily harm.

The escapees then locked Sheriff and Mrs. Maxwell in the jail service area and fled through their living quarters, taking a gun which they found.

The two men were believed to be in a light green, four-door 1950 Plymouth with Pawnee County license plates which is missing from the area.

Parked Near Jail
The car, belonging to Richard Ullman of Burchard, was parked about a block from the jail.

The escapees were believed to be headed south.

Missouri authorities have been informed.

Johnson, 18, was serving a joy-riding sentence of four months and a $100 fine. Mathes, 31, was awaiting trial on a bad check charge.

Neighbors Plant Corn For Widow

Neighbors of Mrs. Thomas L. Tvrdy pitched in Tuesday and started planting corn and doing the field work. Mr. Tvrdy, who had farmed near Waverly for 28

Ballot Won't Mention Site For Fear Of Clouding City-County Bldg. Issue

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The site of the city-county building will not be on the June 26 ballot although there was a county effort Tuesday to have the Building Authority present the question to the voters.

After the Lancaster County Board had approved the June 26 election on the $4.5 million bond issue, Commissioner Del Lienemann proposed an official "recommendation" to the authority that the "two locations most frequently discussed" for the building be placed on a separate ballot.

The two locations would be the present Courthouse square on 10th, and the site announced Tuesday as favored by the authority — the block between 14th and 15th and L and M Streets.

Lienemann withdrew his resolution following a hurriedly-called meeting between the County Board and authority members and their counsel.

Not Time

He cited as his reason that there isn't sufficient time left to amend the election resolution.

However in proposing the recommendation, Lienemann said the authority was "jeopardizing the whole bond issue by not giving the voters a chance to choose a site."

"I've had a lot of calls since the disclosure of the 15th street site from people who will vote against the bonds unless there is a choice of sites."

However, Lienemann's contention brought the opposite opinion from authority members and Attorney Max Kier.

Hurt Bond Sale

Kier cautioned that any official action, even though in a recommendation form, "could jeopardize the bond history and thus adversely affect their sale."

"If you can't sell the bonds, you can't build the building," Kier said, explaining that their negotiability is affected by the opinion of Chicago and New York attorneys.

The bond issue proposition as it stands has the approval of Cutler and Chapman, a Chicago law firm specializing on bonds, Kier explained.

"The question of site could invalidate the whole bond issue. The bond issue can lose the election,"

CITY-COUNTY BUILDING SITE OWNERS LIST

The Lancaster County Assessor's office lists the following property owners for the block proposed as the site for a city-county building. The assessed values shown below are roughly one-third of the appraised value.

List of property owners for block square, 14th & 15th, L & M:

O'Shea-Rogers Co., Lot 1, part of 2: $12,335 total assessed value.
J. H. Daily, 1441 M. west part, Lot 2: $11,263.
Council Building Assn. (G. of C.), Lot 3: $16,805.
O'Shea-Rogers Co., Lots 4, 5, 6: $12,000.
Folsom Brothers Co., Lot 7, S. west half: $10,795.
Edith D. Jones, 1418 L, east 48th ft., Lot 9: $3,385.
Thomas J. Eckery, Lot 10: $3,725.
Elmer N. and Rose M. Davis, 1440 L, West half, Lot 11: $2,810.
Lot 11: south 92 ft., Lot 12: $9,825.
Folsom Brothers Co., 320 So. 15th, north 92 ft., east half, Lot 13: north 50 ft., Lot 12: $7,170.

but it will be a clear cut decision," he added.

Well Planned

Chauncey Barney, an authority member, said the language of the bond issue, amount of bonds, and so forth was "not grabbed out of the air" despite the fact the authority was working "against the clock" for the June 26 election.

Whether the site question is proposed as a "straw vote" or as "part of the bond issue" would not be immediately material, Barney said. "It would probably make little difference in the election, but it could put the bond issue either way in court litigation for the next 20 years."

"I don't know what kind of stone you're throwing," Barney told Lienemann. "But it's only effect will be to throw a cloud on what's been done so far. Do you want to take that responsibility?"

C. C. Kimball, authority chairman, said studies back to 1939 were considered in selecting the site.

"I think the majority of people want a civic center built around 15th street," he said. "If location is put on the ballot, it should be thrown wide open and you'll get 500 sites or more — all sincere proposals."

Authority members said the site was left out of the bond issue because of the language of the state enabling legislation and also to avoid the pitfalls encountered by the auditorium bond issue. (Another story and picture of proposed site on Page 3.)

Army Scores Point; AF Drone Downed

Nike Missile, Fired For Public, Blasts Jet Target From Sky

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUNDS, N. M. (INS) — One of two Army-launched, radar-controlled Nike guided missiles promptly scored a hit Tuesday on an Air Force-dropped jet drone in a demonstration at the White Sands proving grounds.

The Nikes were fired within seconds of each other at the speeding drone which was dropped from a "mother" B-26 plane during a public showdown of the Army's controversial missile program.

The test before some 100 newsmen brought to 1,651 the number of Nikes launched into the air at White Sands in the last 11 years and came as top brass in Washington attempted to head off an interservice dispute over guided missiles between the Army and the Air Force.

In a wrap-up tour of the proving ground, the Army fired the Corporal guided missile, the Honest John missile and the Nike, around which the heated controversy is raging.

Ironically, the Air Force which has challenged the effectiveness of the Nike, aided the Army in today's demonstration by dropping the drone.

Army officials conducting the tour steered clear of any mention of the inter-service controversy, but many were obviously on edge over published criticism of the Nike program which has produced this country's major weapon against possible air attacks.

One officer objected to a claim he said he heard that the Nike could not be controlled. He declared:

"We can make the missile turn in a figure eight."

White Sands project officer, Lt. Col. J. P. Hamill, expressed complete confidence in the Nike. He said:

"The Nike has knocked down every target presented to it." Col. Hamill explained in simple terms that, when a target enters an area, it is tracked by radar, and the launched missile also is tracked by radar.

The two radar trackings feed information to a computer which automatically guides the missile to its target.

Hamill also noted that, in event of an attack, there will be more than one battery of guided missiles aimed at the attackers, sending as many as five missiles into the air at once.

In Tuesday's demonstration, a drone about one-tenth the size of a bomber was used, and even such a small target, traveling at 500 miles an hour, was easily spotted, tracked down and hit.

'Squirrel-Headed' General Blamed

Touring Ex-President Gives His Strategy Opinion At Site Of Bloody Battle

SALERNO, Italy (AP) — Harry S. Truman looked with an old soldier's eye Tuesday on the site of bloody World War II battle of Salerno.

The ex-President, a First World War artillery officer, then delivered his opinion that the battle and the later Anzio Beach landing were "totally unnecessary and planned by some squirrel-headed general."

Who the general was and where the ultimate responsibility lay were questions without answers Tuesday night.

Truman, touring Europe with Mrs. Truman, was a U.S. senator from Missouri when the battles of Salerno and Anzio were fought by invading American and British troops in 1943-44.

Quiet Village

Salerno was a quiet holiday village before the war and has become so since. Truman gave his negative opinion of the strategy behind the Allied attack of Sept. 8, 1943, after he saw the beach and the rugged cliffs behind it.

He told newsmen he didn't know who decided to launch the Allied attack on the Italian mainland at Salerno. The Allies had already conquered Sicily.

"There were a lot of easier places that could have been picked," Truman added.

Fearful Toll

German guns hidden in the hills behind the beach took a great toll of the Allied landing forces of the U.S. 5th Army, including British units, commanded by the then Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark. The troops were part of the 15th Army Group commanded by British Gen. Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander, now Field Marshal Viscount Alexander of Tunis.

Truman's criticism of the grand strategy of the Allied landings in Italy renewed an old controversy that has flared periodically since they were planned.

Clark Comments

Gen. Clark, now president of The Citadel, South Carolina military college at Charleston, emphasized Tuesday that the landings were jointly planned. Commenting on Truman's remarks, he said:

"The Italian campaign with its landings, initially at Salerno and later at Anzio, was a part of the grand Allied strategy of World War II, conceived and directed by the Allied governments involved, namely the United States and Great Britain."

"As commander of the 5th Army, whose American and British troops landed at both these places, I received and carried out orders from higher headquarters."

No Eisenhower Comment
There was no indication of any immediate comment from President Eisenhower, who was the Allied supreme commander in the

HST PROVES HE'S FIRST RATE ARCHEOLOGIST

From Press Dispatches

SALERNO — Touring Harry S. Truman proved himself a first-rate archeologist Tuesday when he corrected an Italian guide on the era the Paestum Temples existed.

The former President, currently touring Italy with Mrs. Truman, corrected the guide by stating that the ancient temples were "early Doric, not pure Doric," explaining the reason why.

As he looked over the destruction of the Paestum city, brought on by wars and the ravages of time, Truman remarked:

"There's a perfect example of what happens to transitory glory, or putting it in Latin 'sic transit gloria mundi.'"

At the Paestum Museum Truman saw an ancient marble bust of a woman decorated with swastikas.

Mediterranean when Salerno was attacked.

At the White House, acting press Secretary Murray Snyder was asked if there would be any comment on Truman's reference to "some squirrel-headed general," and he replied:

"I refer you to the squirrels."

Eisenhower has set forth his views on the Salerno and Anzio landings in his book, "Crusade in Europe." In it he said the Allied command picked Salerno after considering "every spot of the beach from Rome to the toe of the Italian boot."

The views of Eisenhower and his staff on the Anzio landing in January, 1944, were expressed more emphatically in his book. He knew the operation would take place after his transfer to London to set the stage for the invasion of France.

Ike Objected

Nevertheless, Eisenhower stated his objections to the Anzio landing during a conference in Tunisia with British Prime Minister Churchill and the new Allied commander in the Mediterranean, British Gen. Sir Henry Maitland (Jumbo) Wilson.

Eisenhower told the British leaders that landing two skeletonized divisions at Anzio, 100 miles beyond the existing front lines, was risky and would not necessarily force a German retreat. He warned the costs would be heavy and urged careful consideration of the whole plan.

But he added Churchill was determined to carry it out.

Summing things up after the heavy American losses at Anzio, Eisenhower said Anzio eventually "paid off handsomely" but developed initially exactly as his headquarters said it would.

Anzio was intended to turn the German flank that had stalled the Allied advance at Cassino. The Army Almanac, an Army Department publication, calls it the "famous left hook" that breached the Germans' Gustav line including Cassino and the Rapido River and helped the Allies take Rome.

In 1946, a group of former officers who fought under Clark accused him of blunders in the Rapido River crossing. They urged the U.S. Senate's Military Committee not to confirm Clark's promotion as a permanent major general.

Both of Texas' senators at the time, Tom Connally and W. Lee O'Daniel, opposed Clark's confirmation. Many Texans were in the 36th Division that fought at the Rapido. However, the committee and later the Senate confirmed Clark's promotion. Later he became a full general.

Committee Chairman Thomas (D-Utah) said Clark, while commanding the 5th Army, was carrying out orders from above.

COMMANDERS AT ANZIO AND SALERNO

Lt. Gen. Lucian K. Truscott was the commander of the VI Corps at the landing at Anzio in January, 1944, while Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark led the U.S. Fifth Army during the battle of Salerno in September, 1943. Former President Truman said at Salerno, Italy, the bloody beachhead battles of Salerno and Anzio in World War II were "totally unnecessary and planned by some squirrel-headed general."

Showers Moving To Western Area

Scattered showers and thunderstorms were to center in the south and west portions of Nebraska Wednesday, according to the Weather Bureau's forecast.

Partly to considerably cloudy skies were to cast a cooler temperature on the state.

Light rain showers Tuesday, centering in the eastern reporting points, brought as much as .09 of an inch of precipitation. Grand Island reported that amount, while North Platte had .07, Omaha had .05 and Lincoln had .03. Traces fell at Norfolk and Sidney, Scottsbluff, Seward and Wahoo.

Afternoon temperatures were generally in the high 70s and low 80s, with Lincoln's 85 recorded as the highest.

Wednesday high marks on the thermometer were to hit the 70s.

Allotments On Wheat Up Slightly

Nebraska wheat producers will be allowed approximately one per cent more allotted acres next year, it was revealed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The 1957 acreage allotments by counties was announced Tuesday by the Nebraska Agricultural Conservation and Stabilization Office. The figures showed an overall increase of 34,495 acres, hiking the 1956 permitted planting from 3,200,332 acres to 3,234,827. The increase was not evenly spread over the counties but the major wheat growing areas

Dulles Disputes Stassen

Motives Of Russia Are Questioned

...In Military Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles refused Tuesday to go along with Harold Stassen's statement that military man-power cuts announced by the Russians are "an initiative we wanted them to take."

Despite the hopeful face put on the Soviet move by Stassen, who is President Eisenhower's disarmament specialist, Dulles stuck to his guns.

Dulles repeated his statement of last week that the Russians, if sincere in saying they will cut 1,200,000 men from their armed services, are reacting out of economic, military and propaganda consideration—not in any genuine spirit of disarmament.

Dulles spoke out at a news conference where he also said:

1. The United States regrets Egypt's decision to accord diplomatic recognition to Red China.

2. It is "unlikely that we would find it practical or desirable" to join Russia at this time in any cooperative financing of Egypt's proposed billion-dollar Aswan dam.

3. United Nations Security Council members are informally considering some sort of follow-up resolution to continue the momentum of the Middle East truce arranged by U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld. The resolution might be the first test of Russia's expressed willingness to join a U. N. settlement of the Arab-Israeli dispute.

4. The Eisenhower administration will try again in the Senate to get its proposed 10-year billion-dollar, long-range foreign aid authority, knocked out by a House committee. But the administration meanwhile welcomes the House Foreign Affairs Committee's statement, written into the foreign aid bill, that such aid should continue as long as the Communist danger continues.

Dulles made a point of emphasizing that, as he saw it, the Russians never disclosed in advance that they intended announcing a military cutback. Several times he made that point.

He even reported that, to double-check it, he had telephoned Stassen at St. Paul, Minn., Monday night. He said Stassen told him it was a case of "deductions and not disclosures."

Stassen had told a news conference last Friday that the first hint of the impending Soviet man-power cut came in a conversation he had April 24 at London with Soviet leaders Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev.

Dulles insisted that there was "no disclosure" by Khrushchev. He said Stassen's report was a "deduction" and a "conclusion" based on what he had been told.

Sharp Words Mark Debate On Highline

WASHINGTON (AP) — An effort to have the House approve money for a Nebraska power line failed Tuesday after an exchange over Nebraska's past voting records on such projects for other states.

Rep. A. L. Miller tried to have included in the Interior appropriations bill a $1 million dollars for a transmission line from Fort Randall Dam on the Missouri River in South Dakota to Grand Island.

His effort brought a spirited exchange with Rep. Kirwan (D-Ohio) over Nebraska's voting on past projects.

Miller lost when Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) made a point of order against Miller's amendment.

House rules prohibit appropriations for projects not authorized in separate legislation. Miller conceded the point of order.

The Nebraska earlier had said he wanted to find out why the project, approved by the President and the Budget Bureau, was rejected by the committee.

Kirwan, chairman of the Interior Appropriations Subcommittee, replied that in 1952 he asked for seven roll calls on public power projects and all members of the Nebraska delegation voted against them. He said that was the reason he opposed the power line for Nebraska.

"Then it's a political action," Miller said.

He told the House:

"I say to you, this is challenge to everyone here. If you don't vote as the subcommittee chairman wants you to vote, he comes back after four years and chastises you."

Miller is the only current member of the Nebraska House delegation who was here when the roll calls mentioned by Kirwan were taken.

Miss Miller is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Pi Lambda Theta and Alpha Lambda Delta, scholastic honoraries, and past president of Kappa Phi, religious sorority.

Wilson Wins Two Scholarships From Eastern Schools

Charles Wilson, 941 So. 40th, is the winner of a Harvard University regional scholarship and a Cornell University national scholarship.

Wilson, whose brother Robert won eight scholarships last year and is now attending Harvard, was one of 11 regional winners of the Harvard award, which is good for four years.

The Cornell prize, also good for four years, pays $1450 a year.

Wilson, 17, is president of the National Honor Society at Lincoln High School. He served on the Student Council for two years and was state diving champion the past two years.

He plans to study medicine at the University of Nebraska.

Wilson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Wilson.

Another Lincolnite, Charles W. Rook, 4939 Glade, also received one of 300 Harvard scholastic awards made this year.

Rook, whose father is a professor in the University of Nebraska College of Engineering, won a regular freshman award.

The freshman scholarships may be renewed for the four-year college course at Harvard if the holders maintain high academic standing.

Arson Angle Checked After Early Morning Shed Blaze

Fire Department officials were still checking late Tuesday the possibility of arson in an early morning barracks blaze near the home of Wayne L. Cooper at 3803 So. 44th St.

Roscoe Benton, fire inspector, said a gasoline can normally kept closed and 100 feet from the building was found open and partially empty and lying on its side near the building.

Cooper valued the barracks-type building, bought surplus from the Army, at $700. Loss to contents was set at $600.

The building contained a motor scooter, power mower, garden tools, and a two-wheel yard cart.

Benton didn't discount the possibility of faulty wiring causing the blaze, although the signs pointed toward arson, he said. The building is about 200 feet behind the Cooper home.

Cooper said the last the gasoline can was used or seen it contained close to four gallons of fuel. When found after the fire, which was reported at 1:41 a.m., the can contained only about a half gallon.

Doors opening into the building were unlocked, Benton said. The blaze apparently started in the west end where joists were most severely burned. The west end also was the connection point for the fuse box where electrical wiring came into the building.

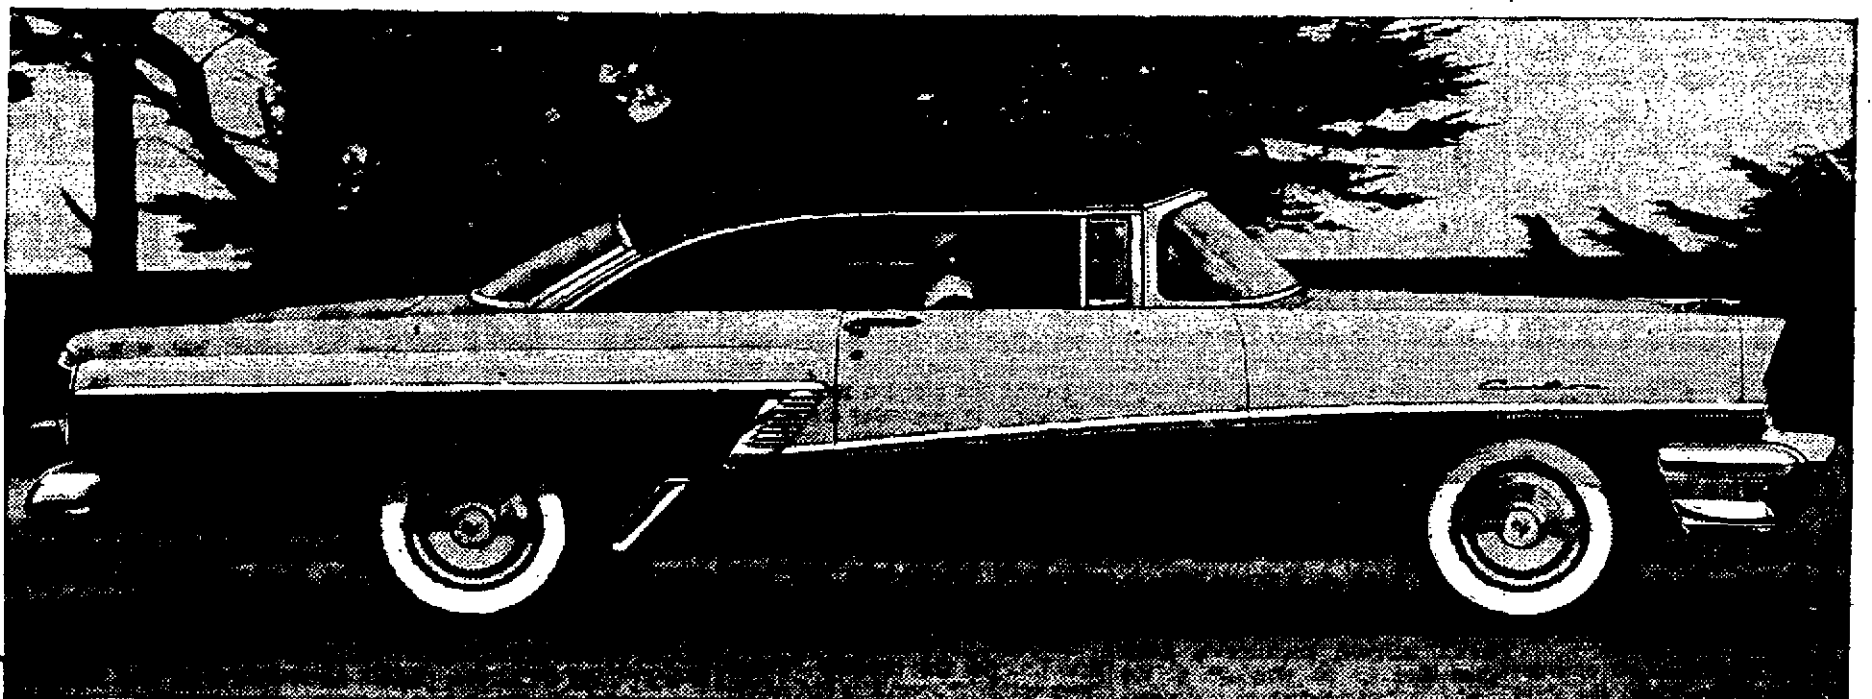

The blaze, which burned the building almost to the ground, was the first suspected arson case in the city since mid-April. The fire, if arson, would be the 19th in the county in a rash of fires believed set.

No evidence of gasoline, however, has been seen at the previous fires in the county.

Dulles Disputes Stassen

Motives Of Russia Are Questioned

...In Military Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles refused Tuesday to go along with Harold Stassen's statement that military manpower cuts announced by the Russians are "an initiative we wanted them to take."

Despite the hopeful face put on the Soviet move by Stassen, who is President Eisenhower's disarmament specialist, Dulles stuck to his guns.

Dulles repeated his statement of last week that the Russians, if sincere in saying they will cut 1,200,000 men from their armed services, are reacting out of economic, military and propaganda consideration—not in any genuine spirit of disarmament.

Dulles spoke out at a news conference where he also said:

1. The United States regrets Egypt's decision to accord diplomatic recognition to Red China.

2. It is "unlikely that we would find it practical or desirable" to join Russia at this time in any cooperative financing of Egypt's proposed billion-dollar Aswan dam.

3. United Nations Security Council members are informally considering some sort of follow-up resolution to continue the momentum of the Middle East truce arranged by U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld. The resolution might be the first test of Russia's expressed willingness to join a U. N. settlement of the Arab-Israeli dispute.

4. The Eisenhower administration will try again in the Senate to get its proposed 10-year billion-dollar, long-range foreign aid authority, knocked out by a House committee. But the administration meanwhile welcomes the House Foreign Affairs Committee's statement, written into the foreign aid bill, that such aid should continue as long as the Communist danger continues.

Dulles made a point of emphasizing that, as he saw it, the Russians never disclosed in advance that they intended announcing a military cutback. Several times he made that point.

He even reported that, to double-check it, he had telephoned Stassen at St. Paul, Minn., Monday night. He said Stassen told him it was a case of "deductions and not disclosures."

Stassen had told a news conference last Friday that the first hint of the impending Soviet manpower cut came in a conversation he had April 24 at London with Soviet leaders Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev.

Dulles insisted that there was "no disclosure" by Khrushchev. He said Stassen's report was a "deduction" and a "conclusion" based on what he had been told.

Haymes Can't Play

NEW YORK (INS) — Theatrical Union Actors Equity has barred Dick Haymes from appearing in a Miami Beach stock production of "The Tender Trap" because of the singer's alien status. Paul Jones, assistant executive secretary of Equity, said the union has a "standard rule" which applies to the case of the Argentine-born Haymes.

Amid Great Uproar—

Low-Cut Anita Weds White-Tied Anthony

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Hollywood's fun-loving Anita Ekberg and British matinee idol Anthony Steel were married Tuesday in a tumultuous civil ceremony in ancient Florence's City Hall.

Two hundred film fans burst through police guards to attend.

A spade-headed city councillor started the service three times in the din, yelled a threat to cancel the wedding, and finally pronounced the handsome couple man and wife only after checking to confirm that they and the witnesses heard the rites.

Pickpocket At one point, plainclothesmen livened things up by plowing through the crowd toward a suspected pickpocket. He got away.

Bond Street would have shuddered to see the 36-year-old bridegroom, a British general's son, wear a white tie with his dark business suit.

The shapely bride, 24, topped

Everet Stancliff Dies In California

Lincoln Star Special

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Everet L. Stancliff, 67, University of Nebraska alumnus and former State Department employee died Tuesday in Santa Monica.

A native of Crete, Mr. Stancliff was formerly engaged in the milling business there. He was married to the late Ruth Johnson of Crete.

Mr. Stancliff Burial will be at Crete, but funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Mr. Stancliff attended Nebraska Wesleyan University and graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1913. During 1940 and 1941, he served as director of the University of Nebraska Alumni in preparation for participation in the Rose Bowl game.

During the World War II, Mr. Stancliff was attached to the economic section of the American Embassy in Mexico City as a consultant and adviser on industrial development.

Mr. Stancliff had lived in Los Angeles since 1932.

Surviving are two sons, Theodore of Springfield, Calif., and Victor A. of New Haven, Conn.

Sharp Words Mark Debate On Highline

WASHINGTON (AP) — An effort to have the House approve money for a Nebraska power line failed Tuesday after an exchange over Nebraska's past voting records on such projects for other states.

Rep. A. L. Miller tried to have included in the Interior appropriations bill a 5½ million dollars for a transmission line from Fort Randall Dam on the Missouri River in South Dakota to Grand Island.

His effort brought a spirited exchange with Rep. Kirwan (D-Ohio) over Nebraska's voting on past projects.

Miller lost when Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) made a point of order against Miller's amendment.

House rules prohibit appropriations for projects not authorized in separate legislation. Miller conceded the point of order.

The Nebraska earlier had said he wanted to find out why the project, approved by the President and the Budget Bureau, was rejected by the committee.

Kirwan, chairman of the Interior Appropriations Subcommittee, replied that in 1952 he asked for seven roll calls on public power projects and all members of the Nebraska delegation voted against them. He said that was the reason he opposed the power line for Nebraska.

"Then it's a political action," Miller said.

He told the House: "I say to you, this is challenge to everyone here. If you don't vote as the subcommittee chairman wants you to vote, he comes back after four years and chastises you."

Miller is the only current member of the Nebraska House delegation who was here when the roll calls mentioned by Kirwan were taken.

12-Story City-County Building On 15th Envisioned

Stone, Glass Structure Would Be Built At 14th-15th, L-M

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The proposed city-county building was visualized Tuesday as a 12-story building of stone screen and glass panels occupying a city block between 14th and 15, L to M, by the Lincoln-Lancaster County Building Authority.

City and county voters will be asked June 26 to approve a $4.5 million bond issue for its construction and site.

Members of the authority and the architect appeared Tuesday before the Lancaster County Board to present a progress report and preliminary plans.

Mayor Clark Jeary and City Council members were not present because of a meeting conflict. They will hear the report later this week.

The County Board approved the county "call" for a special election on the bond issue with a two-to-one vote. Commissioner Chris Kuhner dissented because "the location is not mentioned on the ballot" and "the people should have a vote on the site."

City Move Monday
Approval of the city "call" was made Monday.

L. A. Enersen of Clark and Enersen, architects, told the commissioners the building itself would cover less than a fifth of the one-block site.

The building would be placed on the west half, so that the remaining open space would provide a suitable approach from 15th, he said.

Offices most used by the public would be on the first and second floors and would include treasurers', clerks' and licensing offices. Courtrooms and chambers for the County Commissioners and City Council would be on the top floors.

Examines Sites

Enersen said the authority had examined many site possibilities, including the present Courthouse square, 15th street sites south and further north of the Capitol, and sites as far east as 22nd.

The 15th site selected, according to Enersen, was recommended in the 1952 comprehensive city plan prepared by the Harland Bartholomew Co.

The choice is also contained in studies made by the city-county building advisory committee, the Capitol environs committee, and the University of Nebraska department of architecture, he said.

The authority's decision on site, Enersen said, was also based upon convenience to the public, the building's setting in a controlled environment, future city growth, and availability of land.

Five Points
Enersen outlined these considerations:

1. Convenience of the proposed location as within easy walking distance of the retail area and thus the greatest number of users. The largest group of users—business and professional men—have their offices located in the retail area. The other group, taxpayers and out-of-town residents, combine trips to city-county offices with other errands in the downtown area.

2. Grouping of buildings, such as the city-county building, into a civic center, with a "natural axis" extending from the Capitol to the University on 15th. The auditorium, proposed new central library, and city-county building will form such a nucleus, and develop an environs area "appropriate to the world-renowned" state Capitol Building.

3. Proximity to the downtown area eliminates much of the parking problem, but bringing the building within walking distance of most users. Also the proximity and convenience to other governmental and public buildings.

4. In surveys of 40 other cities, "most other cities are developing their civic centers near downtown and retail areas."

5. City growth trends. The residential areas are northeast, east and southeast of the downtown retail area. Public buildings located on a 15th Street axis may thus be more speedily and conveniently reached. Present arterial systems and the southeast traffic diagonal were also considered.

$400,000 Site
C. C. Kimball, Building Authority chairman, said the total valuation of the site is $400,875, according to the E. T. Wilkins and Associates' appraisal.

Because the land value is three times the value of the buildings now located on the site, acquisition of the site for around this amount is believed highly favorable through negotiation or condemnation by the authority.

Kimball emphasized the authority had not raised the cost estimate of the building. He pointed out a $3.5 million figure was set in 1953 by the building advisory committee and costs have gone up since then.

Building cost per square foot has been raised to $20, because of increased building costs the past year and new steel contract negotiations, Kimball said.

Size Increased
He pointed out the overall building space was increased from 170,000 to 280,000 square feet, but the net rental space was left at about 130,000 square feet.

The space figures, according to architectural advice, will meet office expansion needs foreseeable within the next 25 years, he said. Kimball said the authority provided some "cushion" in its cost estimates and that the money "not needed" would be returned to the taxpayer by not issuing all the bonds.

Chauncey Barney said the authority's estimates are $3,600,000 for the building; $450,000 for the site; $250,000 for fixtures and equipment, and $20,000 for contingencies.

The equipment items would not include office furniture, but such items as air-conditioning, lighting, heating, and "fixed" furniture, such as courtroom benches and the like.

Before the authority's report, Leo N. Bartunek, an attorney in a declaratory judgment action filed against the Building Authority and others, complained to the County Board about the "unlimited powers" given the Authority.

County Board Denies Beer At Grocery Store

The County Board Tuesday denied an off-sale beer license application of Leo Hytrek at 742 West P as against board policy for additional licenses in the West O area.

Hytrek said at the hearing he was requesting the license in connection with his grocery business. "Some of my old customers made the suggestion," he explained.

Actress, 22, Sues Vegas Hotel, Artist For Nude Painting

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Actress Sandra Giles, 22, whose nude picture was ceremoniously unveiled last weekend in a new Las Vegas hotel, filed suit for $250,000 damages Tuesday against the hostelry and the artist.

And to be sure, the painting of Sandra in the altogether draped over a crap table with $100 bills clutched in her hands—she was portraying "lady chance"—left her with little privacy.

The picture was considered a bit breathtaking even for this sophisticated gambling resort town. Miss Giles' suit charged that she agreed to pose for a series of sketches in Hollywood by Paval with the understanding that she would be depicted in the bathing suit she wore while posing.

The bathing suit somehow disappeared when her likeness was placed on canvas.

The proposed city-county building was visualized Tuesday as a 12-story building of stone screen and glass panels occupying a city block between 14th and 15, L to M, by the Lincoln-Lancaster County Building Authority.

City and county voters will be asked June 26 to approve a $4.5 million bond issue for its construction and site.

Members of the authority and the architect appeared Tuesday before the Lancaster County Board to present a progress report and preliminary plans.

Mayor Clark Jeary and City Council members were not present because of a meeting conflict. They will hear the report later this week.

The County Board approved the county "call" for a special election on the bond issue with a two-to-one vote. Commissioner, Chris Kuhner dissented because "the location is not mentioned on the ballot" and "the people should have a vote on the site."

City Move Monday

Approval of the city "call" was made Monday.

L. A. Enersen of Clark and Enersen, architects, told the commissioners the building itself would cover less than a fifth of the one-block site.

The building would be placed on the west half, so that the remaining open space would provide a suitable approach from 15th, he said.

Offices most used by the public would be on the first and second floors and would include treasurers', clerks' and licensing offices. Courtrooms and chambers for the County Commissioners and City Council would be on the top floors.

Examines Sites

Enersen said the authority had examined many site possibilities, including the present Courthouse square, 15th street sites south and further north of the Capitol, and sites as far east as 22nd.

The 15th site selected, according to Enersen, was recommended in the 1952 comprehensive city plan prepared by the Harland Bartholomew Co.

The choice is also contained in studies made by the city-county building advisory committee, the capitol environs committee, and the University of Nebraska department of architecture, he said.

The authority's decision on site, Enersen said, was also based upon convenience to the public, the building's setting in a controlled environment, future city growth, and availability of land.

Five Points

Enersen outlined these considerations:

1. Convenience of the proposed location as within easy walking distance of the retail area and thus the greatest number of users. The largest group of users—business and professional men—have their offices located in the retail area. The other group, taxpayers and out-of-town residents, combine trips to city-county offices with other errands in the downtown area.

2. Grouping of buildings, such as the city-county building, into a civic center, with a "natural axis" extending from the Capitol to the University on 15th. The auditorium, proposed new central library, and city-county building will form such a nucleus, and develop an environs area "appropriate to the world-renowned" state Capitol Building.

3. Proximity to the downtown area eliminates much of the parking problem, but bringing the building within walking distance of most users. Also the proximity and convenience to other governmental and public buildings.

4. In surveys of 40 other cities, "most other cities are developing their civic centers near downtown and retail areas."

5. City growth trends. The residential areas are northeast, east and southeast of the downtown retail area. Public buildings located on a 15th Street axis may thus be more speedily and conveniently reached. Present arterial systems and the southeast traffic diagonal were also considered.

$400,000 Site

C. C. Kimball, Building Authority chairman, said the total valuation of the site is $400,875, according to the E. T. Wilkins and Associates' appraisal.

Because the land value is three times the value of the buildings now located on the site, acquisition of the site for around this amount is believed highly favorable through negotiation or condemnation by the authority.

Kimball emphasized the authority had not raised the cost estimate of the building. He pointed out a $3.5 million figure was set in 1953 by the building advisory committee and costs have gone up since then.

Building cost per square foot has been raised to $20, because of increased building costs the past year and new steel contract negotiations, Kimball said.

Size Increased

He pointed out the overall building space was increased from 170,000 to 280,000 square feet, but the net rental space was left at about 130,000 square feet.

The space figures, according to architectural advice, will meet office expansion needs foreseeable within the next 25 years, he said.

Kimball said the authority provided some "cushion" in its cost estimates and that the money "not needed" would be returned to the taxpayer by not issuing all the bonds.

Chauncey Barney said the authority's estimates are $3,600,000 for the building; $450,000 for the site, $250,000 for fixtures and equipment, and $20,000 for contingencies.

The equipment items would not include office furniture, but such items as air-conditioning, lighting, heating, and "fixed" furniture, such as courtroom benches and the like.

Before the authority's report, Leo N. Bartunek, an attorney in a declaratory judgment action filed against the Building Authority and others, complained to the County Board about the "unlimited powers" given the Authority.

County Board Denies Beer At Grocery Store

The County Board Tuesday denied an off-sale beer license application of Leo Hytek at 742 West P as against board policy for additional licenses in the West O area.

Hytek said at the hearing he was requesting the license in connection with his grocery business. "Some of my old customers made the suggestion," he explained.

Actress, 22, Sues Vegas Hotel, Artist For Nude Painting

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Actress Sandra Giles, 22, whose nude picture was ceremoniously unveiled last weekend in a new Las Vegas hotel, filed suit for $250,000 damages Tuesday against the hostelry and the artist.

And to be sure, the painting of Sandra in the altogether draped over a crap table with $100 bills clutched in her hands—she was portraying "lady chance"—left her with little privacy.

The picture was considered a bit breathtaking even for this sophisticated gambling resort town.

Miss Giles' suit charged that she agreed to pose for a series of sketches in Hollywood by Paval with the understanding that she would be depicted in the bathing suit she wore while posing.

The bathing suit somehow disappeared when her likeness was placed on canvas.

ITU Re-Elects All Officers

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—International Typographical Union headquarters said nearly complete, unofficial returns show Woodruff Randolph, president, re-elected to a seventh term with other present officers.

ITU said reports from 629 of 785 locals give Randolph 39,174 votes to 30,390 for Laurence H. Victory, New York. A total vote of about 80,000 is expected.

The margin of Don Hurd, secretary-treasurer, over George Bante, Chicago, was 40,637 to 28,129. Vice presidents with similar margins are Charles M. Lyon, Harold H. Clark and Joe Bailey.

Exams Barred

LONDON (AP)—Leningrad radio reported many schools in the Soviet Union have been ordered not to have history examinations for top-grade pupils this year.

The order was issued by the Education Ministry of the Russian Republic. It is by far the largest and most populous of the 16 republics of the Soviet Union.

A Matter Of Background

The starting and chief impetus for all that Nebraska has in the form of hydroelectric development came under Democratic administrations. Nebraska's public power program started with the late F.D.R. It was he who gave approval for the necessary funds for the construction of the big dams on the upper Platte, providing not only storage waters for the generation of electricity but also vast amounts for irrigation purposes.

It was a Democratic administration and Democratic congressmen which provided funds for development on the two Loups, on the Frenchman, the Republican, and Medicine Creek. They were started under Democratic administrations, carried forward to the point of near completion.

This background is essential to those who would understand charges now that the Democrats had denied Nebraska funds for transmission lines from Fort Randall to Grand Island. The most active member of Congress in that battle was not a Democrat, but Rep. Ben Jensen, of Iowa.

Just to keep the record straight the Iowa always has been hostile to Nebraska's public power system.

For Reclamation

Other Nebraska public projects have had their difficulties in the present Washington climate but there is the promise of substantial development in the southwest Nebraska flood and reclamation areas.

Of the $582 million approved by the House appropriations committee for the Army engineers there are appropriations for Nebraska. There is $4,690,000 for the Bostwick division of the Kansas-Nebraska reclamation program. There is $3,151,000 for the Frenchman-Cambridge division and $728,000 for development in the Sargent area.

Committee approval is by no means the last word but it cannot be gainsaid that it is of prime importance and it can be said that with such a favorable push southwest Nebraska in particular and the state in general have good grounds to be sanguine for the continued flood control and irrigation improvements in southwest Nebraska. There is a fertile stretch of Nebraska, afflicted in recent years by protracted drought. It is also one that in the past has produced ruinous floods which swept down the Republican River valley and other streams in the area to vex and harm the whole length of the Kansas River basin. What is happening now in southwestern Nebraska is the taming of those flash flood streams with the accompaniment of the reclamation of thousands of acres of soil which in years to come will bless Nebraska with ever-normal production. Congress is doing no wrong in its aid to early completion of this great work.

Shadow Of Concern

There was a trace of anxiety engendered in Nebraska thinking by a monthly crop report which hinted that the present lush green of

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Some of the speakers at the dinner honoring Dean Emeritus W. W. Burr of the College of Agriculture of the University of Nebraska, may have pointed a finger to Mr. Burr's greatest achievement but if so the news columns did not reveal it. It took a world of patience and an equally large world of courage to face up to the facts in those years of depression and drought in the '30's. That Bill Burr did in dealing with Nebraska's hard-hit farmers.

Dean Burr came to Nebraska in 1916 as chairman of the department of agronomy. From 1919 to 1928 he also was associate director of the Agriculture Experiment Station. When Dean Burr was appointed chancellor of the university in 1928, Bill Burr succeeded him as dean of the College of Agriculture and director of the experiment station, serving in those capacities until his retirement in the fall of 1948. We say without hesitation that the greatest of his conspicuous contributions to Nebraska and to its people came in those difficult years. Times were most trying because the prices of agricultural commodities hit the bottom, and to add to that adversity acute drought resulted in either complete or substantial destruction of crops. Money was hard to get. Nebraska's agricultural income hit an all time low. Funds for agricultural research and for teaching were limited. But many of the experiments which Dean Burr had carried on at the North Platte substation and at other points in the great plains region enabled farmers the better to withstand drought through approved moisture and soil conservation practices. And to no small extent it was the untiring labors and faith of Dean Burr that influenced many Nebraskans to remain on the land.

General Alfred Gruenther will find himself the center of attention of a host of admiring friends when he returns to the old family home in Platte County. He also will have a busy round of speaking. He is scheduled to be the chief speaker at the Platte Center high school alumni banquet on May 27. The evening of that day he will deliver the commencement address at the St. Bonaventure high school at Columbus and round out a strenuous schedule by speaking at the Columbus centennial gathering. General Gruenther is the featured speaker three days in advance of Fred A. Seaton, now serving President Eisenhower as deputy assistant.

Sterling McCaw, observing that Nebraska's eligible voters generally have been scolded for their indifference, takes some satisfaction in noting that a battle for a seat in the Unicameral legislature, a three-way contest, reflected plenty of interest. In Pierce County, McCaw notes, there were 1,080 voters visited the polls and 1,033 voted for state senator. In Madison County the combined vote for the legislative seat was more than 1,000 greater than the ballot cast for governor. . . . Bernie Camp of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation comes forth with a new one . . . part of the slump in hog prices, he says, is due to changing taste of the consumers . . . housewives do not like fat pork. They are turning to lean meat . . . Hogs that carry too much lard are not what the market wants. Ranchers and businessmen teamed up last Wednesday to clean up old Fort Robinson before its dedication June 3. . . . They donned overalls and gloves and armed with rakes and shovels really gave the place a cleaning.

No one thus far has taken hold of Dave Martin's idea of revision of the Nebraska primaries. It appears that Nebraskans, once proud of and ready to fight for the primary, do not care what happens to it.

Squirrels Beware

Ever since they built a putting green on the White House lawn the capital's squirrels have been in poor standing. No one wishes to come right out and be against animals which would be poor politics. But our national leaders have resorted to some pretty shady tricks against the little furry brethren. The latest would round them all up and take them to the National Zoological park where they can be examined to see whether they have contracted some dreadful disease said now to be prevalent among Washington squirrels. That is neither going to fool the squirrels nor the public. It is a dodge to get rid of squirrels, not to cure them. Such double talk frequently fools human beings, but squirrels are different. Our guess is that high officialdom in Washington is making a bad deal and will get the worst of it in any squirrel-chasing contests.

DREW PEARSON

Demo Convention Boss Quits Job

WASHINGTON — The Democratic National Committee, already harassed by a threadbare treasury and bleak chances in November, has deliberately thrown a monkey wrench into its own machinery. Neal Roach, who was supposed to arrange for the fast-approaching national convention at Chicago, has just resigned in a personal row with Chairman Paul Butler.

Not only has this thrown plans for the Chicago convention out of gear, but it may result in a drastic reshuffle of the Democratic National Committee, possibly even the existence of Butler.

The situation is so serious that ex-President Truman sent a page-and-a-half cable from Europe protesting the resignation of Roach. Leslie Biffle, another party stalwart, is also blazing mad at Butler for letting Roach resign; while Col. Jack Arvey, leader of Democratic forces in Chicago, is irked at Butler for various reasons.

The funny thing is that the crisis occurred over a lady — Miss Frances Spivey, Roach's secretary.

Butler would not permit Miss Spivey to go to Chicago to work with Roach, and Roach refused to work without her.

He pointed out that organizing a national convention is a back-breaking job that requires personnel familiar with who-is-who in the Democratic party. He couldn't, said Roach, do the job with a secretary hired in Chicago who didn't know the score. Miss Spivey has handled other conventions, worked long hours in preparing for them. But Chairman Butler said no. It's now the chairman's next move. He has to get someone out to Chicago to start organizing for what will be one of the most important conventions in Democratic history — and he has to do it quick.

Justice Delays Dixon-Yates Suit

WASHINGTON — The Justice Department has been refurbishing a number of used issues for the campaign, including civil rights, but there is one it does not expect to find time for until 1957. It is Dixon-Yates.

Chairman Clinton P. Anderson and the Congressional Joint Committee on Atomic Energy recently instituted inquiries about the suit filed last year against the government by the Dixon-Yates interests. The private power syndicate wants back the several million dollars it spent before the Eisenhower administration canceled its contract to build a power plant in the Tennessee Valley area.

Senator Anderson (D., N.Mex.) was informed that the Justice Department "hoped" to file its answer to the Dixon-Yates suit next month. It did not expect the trial to begin until about a year from now.

Suggestions by the legal talent of the joint committee that the government move for a summary judgment, as no genuine issue against it was involved, were coldly received. The Justice Department would not be rushed, said its spokesman.

After tenaciously defending the Dixon-Yates contract for many months, the administration canceled it, saying that the city of Memphis, Tenn., had made Dixon-Yates power superfluous by deciding to build its own power plant. Then the government refused to recompense Dixon-Yates for money it had spent on plans, ground-breaking, etc., because, it said, a conflict of interest was involved in the activities of Adolph Wenzell.

Wenzell is the utility finance expert whose name was missing from the chronology of the Dixon-Yates contract which President Eisenhower ordered from the Bureau of the Budget and the Atomic Energy Commission after the contract came under fire in congress.

Senatorial investigation showed Wenzell acted both as a part-time consultant of the budget bureau and as a conferee with his old firm, the First Boston Corp., which specializes in utility financing.

In the midst of the controversy, First Boston announced it would not take a fee for its services in the financing of Dixon-Yates but would consider that it had performed a public service.

One of the many curious aspects of the Dixon-Yates affair is that First Boston is not involved in the suit which is pending in the court of claims nor has it ever protested, so far as is known, against the government's action. Yet Wenzell was its man, not an employee of Dixon-Yates.

If the government is correct and Wenzell's activities were wrong, then First Boston must be said to be on the defensive. (Copyright, 1956, By UF Syndicate, Inc.)

He is congressman Graham Barden, the charming, sometimes tricky Democrat from North Carolina, who as chairman of the labor and education committee was able to block the minimum wage bill for months last year. He did this simply by calling no meetings of his committee.

Congressmen, being human, sometimes change. As they get older they change more. That seems particularly true in the case of Graham Barden. (Copyright 1956 By Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

BLOOD ELEMENTS

Found To

One-fourth of all people in hospitals in the U.S. today—for all diseases—suffer from schizophrenia, a mental illness involving loss of contact with reality. Two prisoners at Louisiana State Penitentiary volunteered for a pioneering experiment to help increase knowledge about the disease. They were injected with a substance taken from the blood of schizophrenic persons and became schizophrenic for two and one-half hours. Here one of them, 34-year-old Joel Le Blanc of Chicago, tells what happened to him.

By JOEL LE BLANC

ANGOLA, La. — I am normally an easy-going person, but the type of schizophrenia I experienced was the violent type. I had been interested in science and medicine all my life and that, I suppose, is the main reason why I volunteered to participate in this experiment.

Another motive, I suppose, was that I feel I owe a debt to society. I have served 20 months of a three-year term for cashing bad checks.

I have always wanted to help mental patients, and when I learned of these experiments I jumped at the opportunity. The experiments are being directed by Dr. Robert G. Heath, chairman of the department of psychiatry and neurology in the Tulane University School of Medicine, and Dr. Byron L. Leach, also of that institution.

To Induce Schizophrenia

In explaining the experiments, Dr. Heath talked to us straight from the shoulder. He described his experiments with monkeys and told us that no man in history had ever had schizophrenia induced. The substance which was injected in us was taken from the blood of actual schizophrenics.

The doctors gave us one shot, and I immediately began to feel a complete sense of well-being—euphoric. In about nine or 10 minutes we were given a second injection.

In a few moments a strange feeling of anger began to form in me. I remember trying to decide what was the cause of my anger. There was no apparent reason.

Dr. Heath went out of the room once to get some coffee. This made me very angry. I thought he was going out into the hall to talk about me.

There were several hospital attendants around and I felt like throwing chairs at them. A man was sitting next to me on a stool recording my voice. I had an overpowering desire to jerk the stool from under him and hit him over the head with it.

I wanted very badly to hurt people for no explicable reason. I tried to fight this feeling.

I learned that talking with Dr. Heath helped me control it. I asked him to talk with me. He immediately shut up, as he wanted to see my reaction. I sat there in the chair shaking with anger. The more I tried to control my anger, however, the worse it got. I felt myself brooding about it, trying with all my being to control it.

I kept asking Dr. Heath to talk with me. I came close to losing control after awhile and jumped up from my chair, slammed my fists on Dr. Heath's desk and shouted, "Damn it! talk to me!"

I wanted to reach over and hit him in the face. Then, suddenly, I said to myself, "This isn't me. It isn't the right way to act."

The substance in my blood had begun to wear off. Once it started leaving, it left quick. I returned to normal in a few moments, after being schizophrenic for two and one-half hours. I remembered everything that had happened.

I believe if they had given me just a little more of the injection, I would have lost control and they would have had to put me in a strait jacket.

This experiment proved to me that schizophrenia is caused by something physical, instead of psychological. Of course, it is still in the preliminary stage, but I think it is the most important work that has been done in the field of medicine in 25 years and that it eventually will lead to a chemical cure for mental illness. New Ideas Needed

Colorado Springs, Colo. To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Recently that popular TV program "You Are There" took us back 60 years to that Democratic Convention in Chicago in 1896. Seems like the delegates were milling around in the twilight of the shadow of the 8 ball. What chance did they have against McKinley? The farmers were not too happy; prices being what they were. That meant a great deal in those days since the farmers constituted a greater percentage of the population then. So it was no wonder that confusion seemed to gain the upper hand. Could they really unite on one of their regular candidates? Or should they look around for a dark horse? The low pressure called for a bolt of lightning. And there it was — Out of the fog and cigar smoke emerged a young man—tongue in cheek and chaffing at the bit. He was not lit up with his beverage. And as long as that held out, without souring, he was willing, yea eager to do battle with the Republicans.

And pray, why shouldn't he win? Wasn't his ammunition as 16 to one? Yes, that was the honorable William Jennings Bryan swaying his audience with his "Cross of Gold" speech. "And that's where we came in. The Democrats in '56 are facing almost the identical hurdles of 1896. If they are a bit stronger now, their opponents seem to have all the advantages. But times and standards have changed considerably in 60 years. While perhaps we have sacrificed plenty of liberties, the standard of living has advanced almost beyond recognition. For one thing: we no longer are upon that Cross of Gold. Paper is king, in our "planned economy." The party in power is supposed to avoid the printing press in check: If it looks like wind, they pour a little sand on the brake-shoe. And if things get too quiet, they step on the throttle. This system has inflated prices and it gives us plenty of money but we keep only a certain per cent of it. The balance we hand back to the government on April 15 every year. And that is supposed to be another control to keep up the value of the issued paper. If easy money seemed too radical in '96 it was adopted later anyhow. So, the dollar has already been worked over pretty much and is not the logical cure or issue in '56.

Then what were the issues? The Republicans are not worrying about any issues. They are bound to run on their record. Their record, by the way, is mostly a continuation of what they picked out of the New Deal and Truman's Fair Deal. Let Harry deny it. But that's it. That leaves it up to the Democrats. Either they chart a new course or let the election go by default. They have raised a lot of trial balloons, but so far nothing looks especially promising. There is, of course, the farm problem, but that seems to be such a bipartisan problem; both sides are vulnerable. Besides, '48 will probably not repeat itself so soon.

Flying The Flag

Lincoln, Neb. To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I am the wife of a serviceman and it is my understanding that the American flag is never to fly after sundown. On the eve of May 18 at 10 p.m. I happened to be driving through the business district with some friends and from 10th and O Street to 15th and O Street there were two American flags flying on every light pole. I do not understand how the City Council can allow such laxity in respect to the flag of our nation.

After 10 Months

It has been 10 months since President Eisenhower ordered the cancellation of the Dixon-Yates contract—enough time, one would think, to conclude even the most exhaustive investigation of persons and events connected with the ill-fated venture. But the administration has as yet had no announcements to make.

This is especially true in the instance of Adolph H. Wenzell, official of the First Boston Company who worked out the Dixon-Yates plan while he was helping the government, but still maintaining his connection with his financing house. When it developed later that First Boston was in line for a substantial commission for handling the Dixon-Yates financing the finger of conflict of interest was aimed pointedly at him.

Kelly-Rainier On Time, H-Bomb Not

ABOARD USS MOUNT MCKINLEY (Delayed) — Looking back on it, there was one thing that could be said (and wasn't) about the wedding of Prince Rainier and Grace Kelly. It went off on time.

The delays in the busting of the H-bomb took on a comic flavor that wasn't in keeping with the stern nature of the weapon itself. But such is the antic nature of man. The phrasers of the weather bulletins did their best each morning and night to sound optimistic, but finally they reached the point that would have stumped and confounded the glibest ad writer on Madison Avenue. Finally, they had to leave out the predicates for fear of saying something that could be pinned down. So unpinnable became their predictions that the printed form would not submit to pinning against the green felt of the bulletin board in the ward-room.

One night we stayed up for a notice that said in effect that Tuesday looked as good for the bomb drop that it had been postponed until Wednesday in order to clear the decks for Friday, after which there might be a Saturday drop. It recalled the old gag of the kid with size ten feet whose dogs felt so comfortable in eleven he ordered twelve. It recalled also Ring Lardner's classic business which went, more or less, "Al-though Jones is a very bad biter he is also a very bad fielder."

The McKinley, skipped by a fine Annapolis man ('29) Henry A. Renken, has more communications gear than an interplanetary space ship. But it was comforting for those who still cling to the frailties of home sapiens to note each night that all the electronics wizards the Navy could gather in this remote part of the Pacific could not keep Bryson Rash's nightly newscast from intruding upon the sound track of the movie being shown.

Bryson's fine broadcast was beamed toward San Francisco at 9:30 each night, our time. It was always near the end of the movie, and people were in trouble. The other night Grace Kelly, all involved in a jewel theft near her new domain, suddenly yelled, "this is NTKX (Mt. McKinley) calling KUK (Guam)." Everything turned out okay. Cooper used the same call to save himself and Susan Hayward from the Apaches. And so it went every night. The timing was perfect. One night, apparently in appreciation, our man Rash said "This is Bryson Rash of the American Broadcasting Company." Grace Kelly was deeply impressed. "I love you," she whispered. A Matter Of Background

The starting and chief impetus for all that Nebraska has in the form of hydroelectric development came under Democratic administrations. Nebraska's public power program started with the late F.D.R. It was he who gave approval for the necessary funds for the construction of the big dams on the upper Platte, providing not only storage waters for the generation of electricity but also vast amounts for irrigation purposes.

It was a Democratic administration and Democratic congressmen which provided funds for development on the two Loups, on the Frenchman, the Republican, and Medicine Creek. They were started under Democratic administrations, carried forward to the point of near completion.

This background is essential to those who would understand charges now that the Democrats had denied Nebraska funds for transmission lines from Fort Randall to Grand Island. The most active member of Congress in that battle was not a Democrat, but Rep. Ben Jensen, of Iowa.

Just to keep the record straight the Iowan always has been hostile to Nebraska's public power system.

For Reclamation

Other Nebraska public projects have had their difficulties in the present Washington climate but there is the promise of substantial development in the southwest Nebraska flood and reclamation areas.

Of the $582 million approved by the House appropriations committee for the Army engineers there are appropriations for Nebraska. There is $4,690,000 for the Bostwick division of the Kansas-Nebraska reclamation program. There is $3,151,000 for the Frenchman-Cambridge division and $728,000 for development in the Sargent area.

Committee approval is by no means the last word but it cannot be gainsaid that it is of prime importance and it can be said that with such a favorable push southwest Nebraska in particular and the state in general have good grounds to be sanguine for the continued flood control and irrigation improvements in southwest Nebraska. There is a fertile stretch of Nebraska, afflicted in recent years by protracted drought. It is also one that in the past has produced ruinous floods which swept down the Republican River valley and other streams in the area to vex and harm the whole length of the Kansas River basin. What is happening now in southwestern Nebraska is the taming of those flash flood streams with the accompaniment of the reclamation of thousands of acres of soil which in years to come will bless Nebraska with ever-normal production. Congress is doing no wrong in its aid to early completion of this great work.

Shadow Of Concern

There was a trace of anxiety engendered in Nebraska thinking by a monthly crop report which hinted that the present lush green of springtime beauty and promise may give way to a second year of drought.

It said that the state's lack of moisture is beginning to tell on Nebraska's winter wheat crop. There was a yellowing in some of the fields. And experienced observers noted that other field plants were developing seed prematurely—a sign they took seriously for nature has a way of taking care of its survival, hastening to the business of producing seed when conditions are unfavorable to normal plant development.

The report warned that the wheat situation is not nearly as favorable this year as it was at this juncture a year ago.

But it will be recalled that a year ago the wheat went on from a poor start to produce a bumper crop. Late May and June moisture plus cool weather took care of the situation. The drought did not get in its work until July.

In Nebraska, as in any heavy producing agricultural area, crops are saved and lost repeatedly during the growing season. But one is encouraged by the history of production that tells that most of the time all things turn out well enough in the end.

Though the 1956 wheat crop is still in the make and though crop observers speak of the urgent need for moisture Nebraskans can take a measure of faith and confidence in fields that are still flourishing and that the rainy season is at hand. The drought, such as it is, had not reached the point of no return.

The year 1956 will not go down in history as one in which the good action was taken in behalf of agriculture. The apathy that is attending the second effort of congress to fashion a farm bill that will suit President Eisenhower is evidence of that.

As one traces the course of action it becomes clear that Congress made the last fight for the principle of 90 per cent price supports. By its vote it got on record as believing that way, but it accepted the presidential veto and that was that. The farm program has been cut from its historic moorings.

But where is it destined? No one knows. The administration asked for the soil bank plan with the right to pay off the farmers this year in advance of compliance. In its second effort at farm legislation the Senate defeated the prepayment idea but it supported the soil bank. But the administration itself has described the soil bank as a temporary arrangement. So there we are—off the high price support principle which is to be replaced by a temporary expedient. It all adds up to a piece of year-by-year shift-making and a program that presently can be defined as no program. Seldom has so much time and effort been spent getting to that place called nowhere.

After 10 Months

It has been 10 months since President Eisenhower ordered the cancellation of the Dixon-Yates contract—enough time, one would think, to conclude even the most exhaustive investigation of persons and events connected with the ill-fated venture. But the administration has as yet had no announcements to make.

This is especially true in the instance of Adolph H. Wenzell, official of the First Boston Company who worked out the Dixon-Yates plan while he was helping the government, but still maintaining his connection with his financing house. When it developed later that First Boston was in line for a substantial commission for handling the Dixon-Yates financing the finger of conflict of interest was aimed pointedly at him.

Demo Convention Boss Quits Job

WASHINGTON — The Democratic National Committee, already harassed by a threadbare treasury and bleak chances in November, has deliberately thrown a monkey wrench into its own machinery. Neal Roach, who was supposed to arrange for the fast-approaching national convention at Chicago, has just resigned in a personal row with Chairman Paul Butler.

Not only has this thrown plans for the Chicago convention out of gear, but it may result in a drastic reshuffle of the Democratic National Committee, possibly even the existence of Butler.

The situation is so serious that ex-President Truman sent a page-and-a-half cable from Europe protesting the resignation of Roach. Leslie Biffle, another party stalwart, is also blazing mad at Butler for letting Roach resign; while Col. Jack Arvey, leader of Democratic forces in Chicago, is irked at Butler for various reasons.

The funny thing is that the crisis occurred over a lady — Miss Frances Spivey, Roach's secretary.

Butler would not permit Miss Spivey to go to Chicago to work with Roach, and Roach refused to work without her.

He pointed out that organizing a national convention is a back-breaking job that requires personnel familiar with who-is-who in the Democratic party. He couldn't, said Roach, do the job with a secretary hired in Chicago who didn't know the score. Miss Spivey has handled other conventions, worked long hours in preparing for them. But Chairman Butler said no.

It's now the chairman's next move. He has to get someone out to Chicago to start organizing for what will be one of the most important conventions in Democratic history — and he has to do it quick.

MR. KADES WAITED

The regular stenographer scheduled to transcribe the toasts of President Eisenhower and President Sukarno of Indonesia got sick at the last minute, so hurried phone calls were made to recruit a substitute.

Mrs. Alice Kiades of Alexandria, Va., finally obliged, though protesting that she should not leave a sinkful of dishes, a hungry husband, and two sleepy children.

"You can get back to your husband by 9 p.m.," reassured officials of the Indonesian embassy.

Looking down from the balcony of the Mayflower hotel at President Eisenhower and President Sukarno, she found work both prolonged and complicated. First, the toasts turned out to be full dress, though impromptu speeches. She had to take down every word, then transcribe the record afterward.

"My husband will never believe this," Mrs. Kiades kept saying, half-aloud, as the clock ticked past 9 p.m., then 10 p.m., then 11 p.m. "My husband will never believe this," she repeated as the clock reached midnight and she thought of that sinkful of dishes and the hungry, if not irate, Mr. Kiades.

Finally the Indonesian staff autographed the dinner menu to show where she was, gave her a bottle of champagne, and at 1 a.m. the obliging Mrs. Kiades went back to the sinkful of dishes. Mr. Kiades did believe her.

One of the most interesting figures who has wielded power, both good and bad, over the schools, the libraries, and the labor laws of the nation, comes up for reelection this week.

He is congressman Graham Barden, the charming, sometimes crusty Democrat from North Carolina, who as chairman of the labor and education committee was able to block the minimum wage bill for months last year. He did this simply by calling no meetings of his committee.

Congressmen, being human, sometimes change. As they get older they change more. That seems particularly true in the case of Graham Barden.

Justice Delays Dixon-Yates Suit

WASHINGTON — The Justice Department has been refurbishing a number of used issues for the campaign, including civil rights, but there is one it does not expect to find time for until 1957. It is Dixon-Yates.

Chairman Clinton P. Anderson and the congressional Joint Committee on Atomic Energy recently instituted inquiries about the suit filed last year against the government by the Dixon-Yates interests. The private power syndicate wants back the several million dollars it spent before the Eisenhower administration canceled its contract to build a power plant in the Tennessee Valley area.

Senator Anderson (D., N.Mex.) was informed that the Justice Department "hoped" to file its answer to the Dixon-Yates suit next month. It did not expect the trial to begin until about a year from now.

Suggestions by the legal talent of the joint committee that the government move for a summary judgment, as no genuine issue against it was involved, were coldly received. The Justice Department would not be rushed, said its spokesmen.

After tenaciously defending the Dixon-Yates contract for many months, the administration canceled it, saying that the city of Memphis, Tenn., had made Dixon-Yates power superfluous by deciding to build its own power plant.

ing to build its own power plant.

Then the government refused to recompense Dixon-Yates for money it had spent on plans, ground-breaking, etc., because, it said, a conflict of interest was involved in the activities of Adolph Wenzell.

Wenzell is the utility finance expert whose name was missing from the chronology of the Dixon-Yates contract which President Eisenhower ordered from the Bureau of the Budget and the Atomic Energy Commission after the contract came under fire in congress.

Senatorial investigation showed Wenzell acted both as a part-time consultant of the budget bureau and as a conferee with his old firm, the First Boston Corp., which specializes in utility financing.

In the midst of the controversy, First Boston announced it would not take a fee for its services in the financing of Dixon-Yates but would consider that it had performed a public service.

One of the many curious aspects of the Dixon-Yates affair is that First Boston is not involved in the suit which is pending in the court of claims nor has it ever protested, so far as is known, against the government's action. Yet Wenzell was its man, not an employee of Dixon-Yates.

If the government is correct and Wenzell's activities were wrong, then First Boston must be said to be on the defensive.

BLOOD ELEMENTS

Found To Induce Schizophrenia

One-fourth of all people in hospitals in the U.S. today—for all diseases — suffer from schizophrenia, a mental illness involving loss of contact with reality. Two prisoners at Louisiana State penitentiary volunteered for a pioneering experiment to help increase knowledge about the disease. They were injected with a substance taken from the blood of schizophrenic persons and became schizophrenic for two and one-half hours. Here one of them, 34-year-old Joel Le Blanc of Chicago, tells what happened to him.

By JOEL LE BLANC

ANGOLA, La. — I am normally an easy-going person, but the type of schizophrenia I experienced was the violent type.

I have been interested in science and medicine all my life and that, I suppose, is the main reason why I volunteered to participate in this experiment.

Another motive, I suppose, was that I feel I owe a debt to society. I have served 20 months of a three-year term for cashing bad checks.

I have always wanted to help mental patients, and when I learned of these experiments I jumped at the opportunity. The experiments are being directed by Dr. Robert G. Heath, chairman of the department of psychiatry and neurology in the Tulane University School of Medicine, and Dr. Byron L. Leach, also of that institution.

In explaining the experiments, Dr. Heath talked to us straight from the shoulder. He described his experiments with monkeys and told us that no man in history had ever had schizophrenia induced. The substance which was injected in us was taken from the blood of actual schizophrenics.

The doctors gave us one shot, and I immediately began to feel a complete sense of well-being—euphoric. In about nine or 10 minutes we were given a second injection.

In a few moments a strange feeling of anger began to form in me. I remember trying to decide what was the cause of my anger. There was no apparent reason.

Dr. Heath went out of the room once to get some coffee. This made me very angry. I thought he was going out into the hall to talk about me.

There were several hospital attendants around and I felt like throwing chairs at them. A man was sitting next to me on a stool recording my voice. I had an overpowering desire to jerk the stool from under him and hit him over the head with it.

I wanted very badly to hurt people for no explicable reason. I tried to fight this feeling.

I learned that talking with Dr. Heath helped me control it. I asked him to talk with me. He immediately shut up, as he wanted to see my reaction. I sat there in the chair shaking with anger.

The more I tried to control my anger, however, the worse it got. I felt myself brooding about it, trying with all my being to control it.

I kept asking Dr. Heath to talk with me.

I came close to losing control after awhile and jumped up from my chair, slammed my fists on Dr. Heath's desk and shouted, "Damn it! talk to me!"

I wanted to reach over and hit him in the face.

Then, suddenly, I said to myself, "this isn't me. It isn't the right way to act."

The substance in my blood had begun to wear off. Once it started leaving, it left quick. I returned to normal in a few moments, after being schizophrenic for two and one half hours. I remembered everything that had happened.

I believe if they had given me just a little more of the injection, I would have lost control and they would have had to put me in a strait jacket.

This experiment proved to me that schizophrenia is caused by something physical, instead of psychological. Of course, it is still in the preliminary stage, but I think it is the most important work that has been done in the field of medicine in 25 years and that it eventually will lead to a chemical cure for mental illness.

New Ideas Needed

Colorado Springs, Colo.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Recently that popular TV program "You Are There" took us back 60 years to that Democratic Convention in Chicago in 1896. Seems like the delegates were milling around in the twilight of the shadow of the 8 ball. What chance did they have against McKinley? The farmers were not too happy; prices being what they were. That meant a great deal in those days since the farmers constituted a greater percentage of the population then. So it was no wonder that confusion seemed to gain the upper hand. Could they really unite on one of their regular candidates? Or should they look around for a dark horse? The low pressure called for a bolt of lightning. And there it was — Out of the fog and cigar smoke emerged a young man—tongue in cheek and chafing at the bit. He was not lit up with common liquor. Buttermilk was his beverage. And as long as that held out, without souring, he was willing, yea eager to do battle with the Republicans.

And pray, why shouldn't he win? Wasn't his ammunition as 16 to one? Yes, that was the honorable William Jennings Bryan swaying his audience with his "Cross of Gold" speech.

And that's where we came in. The Democrats in '56 are facing almost the identical hurdles of 1896. If they are a bit stronger now, their opponents seem to have all the advantages. But times and standards have changed considerably in 60 years. While perhaps we have sacrificed plenty of liberties, the standard of living has advanced almost beyond recognition. For one thing: we no longer are upon that Cross of Gold. Paper is king, in our "planned economy." The party in power is supposed to hold the printing press in check: If it looks like wind, they pour a little sand on the brake-shoe. And if things get too quiet, they step on the throttle. This system has inflated prices and it gives us plenty of money but we keep only a certain per cent of it. The balance we hand back to the government on April 15 every year. And that is supposed to be another control to keep up the value of the issued paper. If easy money seemed too radical in '96 it was adopted later anyhow. So, the dollar has already been worked over pretty much and is not the logical cure or issue in '56.

Then what were the issues? The Republicans are not worrying about any issues. They are bound to run on their record. Their record, by the way, is mostly a continuation of what they picked out of the New Deal and Truman's Fair Deal. Let Harry deny it. But that's it. That leaves it up to the Democrats. Either they chart a new course or let the election go by default. They have raised a lot of trial balloons, but so far nothing looks especially promising. There is, of course, the farm problem, but that seems to be such a bipartisan problem; both sides are vulnerable. Besides, '48 will probably not repeat itself so soon.

JOHN C. OTTEMAN

Upland, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Since Gov. Anderson has been made so humble, he is bubbling over with gratitude over the election, and is manifesting an overwhelming desire to continue serving Nebraska people I would suggest that he unstraddle the fence before some of the real person is exposed.

At Red Cloud he mentioned "political clout." I cannot speak with authority on his road program, but I do think I have knowledge that former Gov. Roy Cochran had a round trip ticket and rode in and out of office on political roads. And I had a very big hand and boot in wishing him, Harry Coffee and Edward R. Burke godspeed.

And now some very important yes and no's are overdue from Gov. Anderson.

Flying The Flag

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I am the wife of a serviceman and it is my understanding that the American flag is never to fly after sundown. On the eve of May 18 at 10 p.m. I happened to be driving through the business district with some friends and from 10th and O Street to 15th and O Street there were two American flags flying on every light pole. I do not understand how the City Council can allow such laxity in respect to the flag of our nation.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Some of the speakers at the dinner honoring Dean Emeritus W. W. Burr of the College of Agriculture of the University of Nebraska, may have pointed a finger to Mr. Burr's greatest achievement but if so the news columns did not reveal it. It took a world of patience and an equally large world of courage to face up to the facts in those years of depression and drought in the '30's. That Bill Burr did in dealing with Nebraska's hard-hit farmers.

Limited Funds Handicap

Dean Burr came to Nebraska in 1916 as chairman of the department of agronomy. From 1919 to 1928 he also was associate director of the Agriculture Experiment Station. When Dean Burnett was appointed chancellor of the university in 1928, Bill Burr succeeded him as dean of the College of Agriculture and director of the experiment station, serving in those capacities until his retirement in the fall of 1948. We say without hesitation that the greatest of his conspicuous contributions to Nebraska and to its people came in those difficult years. Times were most trying because the prices of agricultural commodities hit the bottom, and to add to that adversity acute drought resulted in either complete or substantial destruction of crops. Money was hard to get. Nebraska's agricultural income hit an all time low. Funds for agricultural research and for teaching were limited. But many of the experiments which Dean Burr had carried on at the North Platte substation and at other points in the great plains region enabled farmers the better to withstand drought through approved moisture and soil conservation practices. And to no small extent it was the untiring labors and faith of Dean Burr that influenced many Nebraskans to remain on the land.

Some Compensatory Facts

General Alfred Gruenther will find himself the center of attention of a host of admiring friends when he returns to the old family home in Platte County. He also will have a busy round of speaking. He is scheduled to be the chief speaker at the Platte Center high school alumni banquet on May 27. The evening of that day he will deliver the commencement address at the St. Bonaventure high school at Columbus and round out a strenuous schedule by speaking at the Columbus centennial gathering. General Gruenther is the featured speaker three days in advance of Fred A. Seaton, now serving President Eisenhower as deputy assistant.

Squirrels Beware

Ever since they built a putting green on the White House lawn the capital's squirrels have been in poor standing. No one wishes to come right out and be against animals which would be poor politics. But our national leaders have resorted to some pretty shady tricks against the little furry brethren. The latest would round them all up and take them to the National Zoological park where they can be examined to see whether they have contracted some dreadful disease said now to be prevalent among Washington squirrels. That is neither going to fool the squirrels nor the public. It is a dodge to get rid of squirrels, not to cure them. Such double talk frequently fools human beings, but squirrels are different. Our guess is that high officialdom in Washington is making a bad deal and will get the worst of it in any squirrel chasing contests.

Senate Unit Votes For Pay-As-You-Build Highway Program

... Step Could Delay Road Plan

WASHINGTON (U)—The Senate Finance Committee voted Tuesday to put the proposed big highway program on a strict pay-as-you-build basis—a step that could delay its completion.

The committee took this action at the same time it approved increases in high-use taxes. These would bring in an additional $14,400,000,000 during the next 16 years to help pay for the road program—the largest in the nation's history.

Most of the new taxes already passed by the House were approved by the Senate committee. But because the Senate group decided to soften the tax impact on truckers, the increases it voted fell 400 million dollars shy of the House.

The chief provision of the highway proposal calls for a 40,000-mile network of interstate super-highways, with the federal government paying 90 per cent of the cost. The states would pay the rest.

Adoption of an amendment that could slow the rate of highway construction came by a one-vote margin. This proposal, advanced by Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, would limit spending on highways to the money available in any given year.

Humphrey told the group last week that the program would run in the red during 10 of its 16 years. The peak deficit, he said, would be $4,700,000,000 in 1969.

In initiating the tax boosts, the House figured the program would be self-supporting over the full 16-year period, though it foresaw deficits in some years.

The Senate committee went along with the House on tax proposals which would boost the federal tax on gasoline from 2 to 3 cents and provide added levies on tires, tread rubber and excises on trucks, buses and trailers.

The committee balked, however, at one new tax which drew strong opposition from trucking firms. The House voted to impose an annual tax of $1.50 per 1,000 pounds and limit it to the excess over 26,000 pounds.

This would have the effect of nearly halving the added revenue from the particular provision.

Administrative provisions of the bill will be considered Wednesday, at which time Chairman Byrd (D-Va.) said he hoped the measure could be sent to the floor.

The committee balked, however, at one new tax which drew strong opposition from trucking firms.

The House voted to impose an annual tax of $1.50 per 1,000 pounds and limit it to the excess over 26,000 pounds.

This would have the effect of nearly halving the added revenue from the particular provision.

Administrative provisions of the bill will be considered Wednesday, at which time Chairman Byrd (D-Va.) said he hoped the measure could be sent to the floor.

Dog Attacks Bring Leash Crackdown

A city-wide crackdown on unleashed dogs was promised by the Humane Society Tuesday with reports of the second and third attacks by dogs in the past two days.

The three-year-old son of Police Officer Lowell Sellmeyer became the latest victim when he was bitten about the right side of his face and throat. The boy, Larry, was treated for the wounds by a private physician.

Charles Thompson, superintendent of the Humane Society, said he and his workers have gotten an increasing number of complaints of dogs running loose in the city.

The City Council passed an ordinance last year forbidding such dogs running loose. The ordinance states all dogs must be on leash or tied up or fenced at home.

Police reported Mrs. Gladys O. Jones of 1408 B was bitten and knocked to the ground by a collie dog on 14th between E and F Sts.

The owner of the dog was identified as Mrs. James E. Smothers of 919 So 15th St. Mrs. Jones was treated at Lincoln General Hospital.

Sellmeyer's son, playing in a neighbor's yard, was knocked to the ground before suffering bites just below his right eye. Sellmeyer lives at 1401 No. 53rd St.

Last Friday Robert M. McElroy of 400 So. 33rd reported he was jumped by a dog while walking his own dog.

The attacking animal jumped from bushes on Randolph between 33rd and 34th, McElroy said. He suffered punctures about the throat and hand while fighting off the animal.

The jury of eight men and four women deliberated an hour and a half in returning a verdict against the defendant as charged.

The state had contended that Hartley sold the pony and equipment, owned by Orval L. Wohlford of 2956 O, on June 25 without authorization and converted the money to his own use.

The defense claimed Hartley was authorized to sell the pony for a good price and the incident was involved in a civil suit.

Wohlford testified that before the family left for Olathe, Kan., last June, he told Hartley, "to leave the pony in the pasture."

When the Wohlford family returned 10 days later, the pony and saddle, a radio and sewing machine were missing and Hartley had gone from the Wohlford household, he said.

Hartley, a relative of Mrs. Wohlford, had lived with the Wohlforths for several weeks while seeking work in Lincoln, according to testimony.

Hartley sold the pony and saddle for $110 to a Lincoln buyer. It was subsequently sold two more times, according to witnesses.

Wohlford testified he paid $222.50 for the pony and saddle and was asking $250 of prospective purchasers. At no time, Wohlford testified, had he authorized a sale for less than $200.

SCANDINAVIANS INVITE B & K TO VISIT THEM

STOCKHOLM (INS)—Sweden, Norway and Denmark announced Tuesday night they have invited Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev to visit the three countries.

Official sources indicated next spring would be a suitable time for the visit.

Swedish, Norwegian and Danish government leaders recently visited Moscow.

The Kremlin leaders returned to Moscow early this month after ten days in Britain and French Premier Guy Mollet recently spent five days in Moscow.

Seward County Tests Speeding Charge Fine

Leslie H. Rollinsmeier of Seward County, filed a transcript of appeal on a speeding charge in the Supreme Court Tuesday.

He was arrested by Safety Patrolman L. E. Minary, and was charged with driving 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone.

County Judge P. H. Wiegardt found him guilty and assessed a fine of $10 and costs. He appealed to District Court, where a jury found him guilty and District Judge H. Emerson Kokker fined him $20 and costs.

He appealed from the District Court ruling.

Relative Sold Horse While Family Away

Daniel R. Hartley, 35, of St. Joseph, Mo., was found guilty Tuesday by a Lancaster District Court jury of a grand larceny charge involving a $225 pony, bridle and saddle.

The jury of eight men and four women deliberated an hour and a half in returning a verdict against the defendant as charged.

Pipelines Try For New Tax Formulas

Representatives of 20 pipeline companies with Nebraska franchises met with Tax Commissioner Fred Herrington Tuesday to discuss present formulas for tax assessment.

None agreed with the present plan, Herrington said, but none of the companies offered a better plan. A representative group was named for future meetings in an effort to reach a new formula.

The information will be submitted to the Legislature which instructed the tax commissioner to study the assessment problem and give them the results.

The study committee, headed by Sen. O. H. Liebers of Lincoln, will meet on Friday.

Senate Unit Votes For Pay-As-You-Build Highway Program

...Step Could Delay Road Plan

WASHINGTON — The Senate Finance Committee voted Tuesday to put the proposed big highway program on a strict pay-as-you-build basis — a step that could delay its completion.

The committee took this action at the same time it approved increases in high-use taxes. These would bring in an additional $14,400,000,000 during the next 16 years to help pay for the road program — the largest in the nation's history.

Most of the new taxes already passed by the House were approved by the Senate committee. But because the Senate group decided to soften the tax impact on truckers, the increases it voted fell 400 million dollars shy of the boosts passed by the House.

The chief provision of the highway proposal calls for a 40,000-mile network of interstate super-highways, with the federal government paying 90 per cent of the cost. The states would pay the rest.

Man's Death Said Due To Suffocation

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. — Frank A. Ruble, about 65, died in a fire Tuesday at the home where he lived alone and his death was attributed to suffocation.

Co. Atty. J. C. McIntosh, acting as coroner, said Ruble apparently was asleep when the fire broke out and was overcome by smoke without awakening. Neighbors discovered the fire and turned in the alarm, but firemen found Ruble dead when they arrived. There were no flames in the room where he was sleeping but the smoke was heavy.

Fire Chief Les Mills said the damage to the home was chiefly from smoke.

Ruble, a pioneer in southwestern Nebraska, formerly was a horse buyer. He lived near Stapleton until moving to North Platte about 10 years ago.

Sorrell Criticizes Anderson In First Campaign Talk

OMAHA — Democratic gubernatorial Nominee Frank Sorrell began his campaign Tuesday night with an address before a party meeting in Omaha.

Sorrell said recent journeys about the state had disclosed to him that this great state, basically agricultural is facing a dilemma due to the curtailment of acreage, continued drought, reduced prices for livestock, and the ever increasing cost of living expenses and farm equipment.

Sorrell criticized his opponent Republican Gov. Victor Anderson on two counts. He said Anderson had in his opinion failed to do all possible to get Congress to approve the proposed Ft. Randall Grand Island power line.

Man's Death Said Due To Suffocation

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (P)—Frank A. Ruble, about 65, died in a fire Tuesday at the home where he lived alone and his death was attributed to suffocation.

Co. Atty. J. C. McIntosh, acting as coroner, said Ruble apparently was asleep when the fire broke out and was overcome by smoke without awakening. Neighbors discovered the fire and turned in the alarm, but firemen found Ruble dead when they arrived. There were no flames in the room where he was sleeping but the smoke was heavy.

Fire Chief Les Mills said the damage to the home was chiefly from smoke.

Ruble, a pioneer in southwestern Nebraska, formerly was a horse buyer. He lived near Stapleton until moving to North Platte about 10 years ago.

Sorrell Criticizes Anderson In First Campaign Talk

OMAHA (P)—Democratic gubernatorial Nominee Frank Sorrell began his campaign Tuesday night with an address before a party meeting in Omaha.

Sorrell said recent journeys about the state had "disclosed to me that this great state, basically agricultural, is facing a dilemma due to the curtailment of acreage, continued drought, reduced prices for livestock, and the ever increasing cost of living expenses and farm equipment."

Sorrell criticized his opponent, Republican Gov. Victor Anderson on two counts. He said Anderson had, in his opinion, failed to do all possible to get Congress to approve the proposed Ft. Randall-Grand Island power line.

Lack Of Rain Brings Wheat Deterioration

Central And South Areas Hurt Worst

Lack of moisture began to tell on Nebraska's winter wheat crop last week and considerable deterioration took place, government crop observers reported Tuesday.

Central and southern Nebraska were hurt most, and in some counties the moisture-short grain started to turn yellow, according to the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

Last year at this time, too, the outlook was discouraging, the agency noted. Wheat in southern Nebraska then was "very poor" but rains in the last half of May and throughout June, with temperatures low enough to be favorable, resulted in a record average yield.

"So far the situation is not nearly as favorable this year," the weekly crop report said.

Half Of Corn Planted

Corn planting was about 49 per cent completed by last week end. This is about the same as last year but about 20 per cent below the average for this date for the years 1952-54. Only in northeast Nebraska is planting up to normal for this date.

By districts, percentages of corn planted by last week end included: north: 64 per cent, central 59, east central 40, southwest 40, south central 49, and southeast 43.

Dry weather in central and southern Nebraska is largely responsible for the delayed planting and there may be a shift to more drought-resistant crops unless badly needed rain arrives, the crop reporting service observed.

Normally the bulk of Nebraska corn is planted during the second and third weeks of May and finished by June 1.

All Crops Need Rain

The need for moisture extends to virtually all crops, including pastures, the report indicated.

About 73 per cent of the counties report a shortage of surface moisture, compared with 53 per cent a week earlier. Only 27 per cent of the counties have ample moisture, compared with 53 per cent a week earlier. Virtually all counties, except a few in the Panhandle, report a lack of subsoil moisture.

"The continued drought, especially in southern Nebraska, following the shortage of moisture for the past three years, is presenting a rather serious situation," the report said.

Some Wheat Heading

Other observations: Wheat had held up well prior to last week but warm weather with some wind drew heavily on available moisture last week. Some of the wheat is heading and needs moisture "badly."

The condition of oats and barley also fell off last week and some of these fields are being pastured.

Alfalfa is short in central and southern Nebraska, but better in the Panhandle and northeastern Nebraska.

Pasture Short

Pasture also is short in central and southern Nebraska, and lack of pasture and shortage of feed are presenting a "rather serious" feed problem.

Sugar beets are coming up nicely in western Nebraska and the moisture situation is more favorable there.

Some counties report sales of livestock due to lack of pasture and feed. Several others say cattle sales may become quite heavy unless moisture is received soon to stimulate the growth of grass.

Nebraska's Own Congressmen Blamed For Power Line Loss

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Ohio congressman said Tuesday he had knocked money for a Nebraska power line out of an appropriation bill because Nebraska's congressmen generally have voted against public power projects for other states.

On six roll calls during consideration of the Interior Department appropriation bill in the 82nd Congress, Kirwan said, the Nebraska members voted against public power funds for other states.

"And then they come in here and want us to approve a nine million dollar transmission line for Nebraska," Kirwan observed. He added he thought the Nebraskans should pay for their line.

The House Appropriations Committee Monday rejected a request that 5 1/2 million dollars appropriated in past years for other projects be applied to costs of constructing the Nebraska line.

Kirwan said he would oppose any efforts to add the power line item to an appropriation bill.

"They'll get it only over my dead body," he said.

Discussion Slated On Ag Education

Dr. H. M. Hamlin, chairman of the department of agricultural education at the University of Illinois, will talk on policy and policy making of agricultural education.

Time and place of the meeting will be announced later, according to A. B. Ward, associate professor of vocational education at the university.

Nebraska's Own Congressmen Blamed For Power Line Loss

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Ohio congressman said Tuesday he had knocked money for a Nebraska power line out of an appropriation bill because Nebraska's congressmen generally have voted against public power projects for other states.

Rep. Kirwan (D-Ohio) said that as chairman he made the motion that led to the rejection by the House Interior Appropriations Subcommittee of a budget request for use of federal funds to build a 230 kv line from Ft. Randall Dam on the Missouri River in South Dakota to Grand Island, Neb.

Kirwan told a reporter that apparently the philosophy of the Nebraska House members was not to give anything to any other state but to grab everything they could for Nebraska.

He said that while representing a public power state the Nebraskans generally were against public power projects for the other states.

On six roll calls during consideration of the Interior Department appropriation bill in the 82nd Congress, Kirwan said, the Nebraska members voted against public power funds for other states.

"And then they come in here and want us to approve a nine million dollar transmission line for Nebraska," Kirwan observed. He added he thought the Nebraskans should pay for their line.

STANTON DELAPLANE

The weather in California turned to full blown summer the other day. And all the good editors rushed their good men to the zoo. For a picture of the polar bears.

It is well known in the journalism industry that polar bears, pretty girls in bathing suits and small children sitting on a block of ice illustrate sweltering weather. On a hot day, we couldn't get into print without them.

Once I worked for an editor who went slightly daffy with the heat. "Get a polar bear and a doll in a bathing suit, both sitting on a cake of ice!" he said.

"Yes sir," I said (for I learned a long time ago never to say, "No sir.") "Yes sir. But you know the ice company only sells 25-pound cakes? And those polar bears are six ax handles in the beam and some of the beach ladies not so petite?"

"Is this another of your silly arguments? So what?" "So the lady and the bear will sag over so you cannot see the ice."

"The art department can paint in the ice later," said the editor impatiently. "Here I am racking my brains to win you a Pulitzer prize and you get difficult."

He sulked all day about it and made me write real estate jits.

POSTCARD

While we all use the same props, the matter of temperature varies according to what town you are in.

In Washington, D. C., the papers don't turn a hair at 90 degrees. They watch the humidity. When the humidity gets up they begin to wheel out the big "Heat Wave" type.

Chicago is constantly watching the weather off the lake. Chicago weather is as changeable as any weather in the country and makes good news.

The hottest weather in the country usually turns up at Blythe or Needles or Indio. Down in the Mojave desert. It rolls over the 110 mark pretty regularly. Though sometimes Phoenix, Arizona tops them.

Since they are unable to do much of anything about it, the desert papers brag about it. "Hottest Place in U. S. Today."

Texas just prints the temperatures. Hot weather is no news at all. They don't bother to put a polar bear on a cake of ice. If there is a cake of ice around the editor sits on it himself.

When the weather hits 90 in Southern California, it is a matter to be recorded in the temperature columns.

But when it hits 90 in San Francisco, they break out the foot-high type and cry "Heat Wave!" (Texas visitors are walking the streets saying, "You all surely have mighty fine weather.") We pay no attention to such remarks.

I mention this because I used to do a fair spell of weather writing myself.

I made it drip with doom. Temperatures always "soared" and all my "heat victims" suffered "total collapse." My heat waves were gaudy.

All persons taken to emergency hospitals on such a day were "heat victims." And many a housewife who fell downstairs or stabbed herself with the can opener was surprised to read in the journals that she had collapsed.

By keeping a steady eye on the thermometer and hospital blotter, it was normal to knock off a steaming baker's dozen of victims in a good day.

I am glad to see the technique has not changed since I was inviting ladies and polar bears to share the same ice block. Hot weather is entertaining news. And it makes a man feel good to read that people all around him were keeling over. It proves, by John, that his feeling was right. It WAS hot!

There is also the by product of what it does for journalists. A journalist sent out to get pictures of polar bears and ladies in bathing suits, meets a lot of

D-X

You Get In A Year's Driving with D-X Regular or Ethyl

The chart above is proof enough you need upper-cylinder lubrication! Most leading oil companies recommend upper-cylinder lubrication. So do many automotive engineers and car dealers.

D-X upper-cylinder lubrication is the one real difference in gasolines. D-X provides extra mileage, more knock-free power, reduces costly repairs and assures longer engine life.

But — most other leading oil companies and dealers recommend an upper-cylinder lubricant — and charge extra for it.

D-X is different. In it you get an exclusive lubricant FREE — in scientifically correct amounts, blended into the gasoline at the source. At the prices charged by others, you get $17.85* worth of special higher heat resistant upper-cylinder lubricant FREE in either D-X Regular or Ethyl.

Why not take advantage of this bonus offer? Remember, all gasolines are basically alike — and they all need an upper-cylinder lubricant. Why not get it — FREE! — from the refiner that knows most about upper-cylinder lubrication? Do it now — fill up today at your D-X Dealer's.

*Based on 10,000 miles driving in a year at 15 miles per gallon. If you drive more, you get a bigger bonus.

Companion Product — D-X Special The All-Purpose Oil. It gives you springtime starts year 'round and extra protection in hot weather. You'll never have to change grades to suit the temperature. It's "Weather-Proofed" and Guaranteed.

D-X SUNRAY OIL COMPANY — Tulsa, Oklahoma

You Get In A Year's Driving with D-X Regular or Ethyl

The chart above is proof enough you need upper-cylinder lubrication! Most leading oil companies recommend upper-cylinder lubrication. So do many automotive engineers and car dealers.

D-X upper-cylinder lubrication is the one real difference in gasolines. D-X provides extra mileage, more knock-free power, reduces costly repairs and assures longer engine life.

But — most other leading oil companies and dealers recommend an upper-cylinder lubricant — and charge extra for it.

D-X is different. In it you get an exclusive lubricant FREE — in scientifically correct amounts, blended into the gasoline at the source. At the prices charged by others, you get $17.85* worth of special higher heat resistant upper-cylinder lubricant FREE in either D-X Regular or Ethyl.

Why not take advantage of this bonus offer? Remember, all gasolines are basically alike — and they all need an upper-cylinder lubricant. Why not get it — FREE! — from the refiner that knows most about upper-cylinder lubrication? Do it now — fill up today at your D-X Dealer's.

*Based on 10,000 miles driving in a year at 15 miles per gallon. If you drive more, you get a bigger bonus.

'Navy Could Keep Sea Lanes Open'

... Sec. Thomas

NEW YORK (U) — Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas said Tuesday the Navy "definitely" could keep sea lanes open in event of war.

"We have accepted the fact that we might be faced with an enemy submarine threat of a magnitude never before equalled in the history of navies," he said in a Maritime Day speech in Rockefeller Center Plaza.

He presumably referred to the Russian submarine fleet.

Fancy Subs

Thomas pointed to development of a "high-speed, deep-diving submarine, a type we never before faced."

He said the Navy, in event of war, would seek to destroy enemy submarines in their "furthermost hideaways—where they are built, where they are based, where they train and in "their pathways to the sea."

The United States, he said, has built "killer" submarines, developed long-range aircraft, blimps, the helicopter, the atomic submarine, and sound devices which increase the "detection potential."

Dunking 'Sonar'

He described one as a "dunking" sonar, a listening device something like a doctor's stethoscope, which can be lowered into the sea at any point.

Thomas said the atomic age "has not lessened our nation's need for a strong and adequate Merchant Marine, for it is a fundamental truth that the United States cannot prosper in peace or preserve its security in case of war without merchant vessels."

"Twice our failure to have a strong Merchant Marine has brought our country to the brink of disaster," said Thomas, referring to World Wars I and II. "A third failure could be fatal."

Salem Coed Heads Women's House Council At NWU

Kay Whitney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Whitney of Salem, has been named president of the Nebraska Wesleyan University Woman's House Council.

New Council vice president who automatically becomes chairman of the Wesleyan Governing Board, is Sharon Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. LeRoy Cook of Elmwood.

Woman's House Council handles all legislation regarding coeds on the Wesleyan campus. Membership is made up of two representatives of each sorority, two from each campus dormitory and one each from two additional women's residence halls.

2 Polio Cases

Two cases of polio—one in Scotts Bluff County and one in York County—were reported last week. Total for the year so far now is eight, compared to 22 a year ago.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY Mrs. Ben Barker (MOTHER OF 5)

"Share the wealth of parenthood," say the baby-care experts. Wise words and true! Because full enjoyment of a baby is realized only when both parents share in the care of the newcomer. However, when it comes to those first tries at feeding, bathing and changing baby, most fathers are notoriously shy. That's where you can help—by reassuring dad that baby won't mind a few fumbles, and a few rounds of practice will make him a champion caretaker. Your encouragement will help build a beautiful friendship between dad and his heir.

What's on the menu for the newcomer after milk? Probably specially prepared orange juice. Gerber Strained Orange Juice is made from tree-ripened fruit, selected for mild flavor and appealing color. Careful processing eliminates most of the peel oil for easy digestibility. Naturally, it's pasteurized for baby's protection—and rich in vitamin C for sound gums and body tissues.

Diaper de's. It's easier to prevent rash than to cope with it. So do be generous with diaper changes, especially during warm weather. At each change, cleanse creases thoroughly—oil and powder baby's bottom before re-wrapping.

Comforting thoughts if baby develops a spot of air colic. (1) Keep baby extra quiet before and after feeding. (2) Bubble baby more frequently. (3) Add an extra dose of cuddling and sweet mother murmurings. It does help.

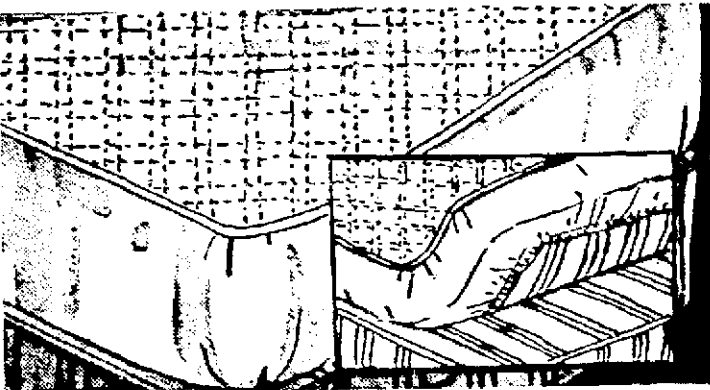

Solid food in sight for baby? Chances are cereal will be high on the list of "firsts." Gerber Cereal Quads provide an ideal way to introduce this early textured food. Handy 4-in-1 package contains small boxes of vitamin-enriched rice, barley, oatmeal and cereal food (a nutty cereal). All four are suitable for bland but distinctive flavors—and a smooth texture that feels pleasant on baby's tongue. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Mich.

OK For Gas Test Site Requested

No. Natural Asks Approval Of FPC

OMAHA (U) — Northern Natural Gas Co., of Omaha Tuesday asked the Federal Power Commission for temporary authorization to construct facilities needed for a full-scale test of its proposed Redfield, Ia., gas storage project.

The application said the testing must be done during the summer months, when its system normally operates at part capacity.

The Redfield storage project is part of Northern's 1956 construction program on which hearings were begun in January. On April 26 Northern asked the commission to reconvene the hearings on the entire 1956 construction program which is aimed at providing facilities to bring service to 55 new communities in the Northern Plains area and supplying more gas to present customers.

Established Need
Northern's new application said that testimony and evidence presented in the January hearings "clearly establish the need for the sale of such additional volumes of gas, particularly to meet the 1956-1957 requirements of applicant's existing customers for gas in communities already being served."

The storage facilities needed to test the Redfield project include 28 miles of 24 inch diameter pipe from Ogden, Ia. to Redfield, Ia., and modification of three compressor units at the Ogden station. Main line facilities requested include 24 miles of 24-inch diameter pipe north of Palmyra, Neb., and 11 miles of 24-inch north of Hooper, Neb. Compressor additions also would be made at Sunray, Tex., Hugoton and Sublette, Kan., Ventura, Ia. and Hooper and Beatrice, Neb.

3 NU Students Receive Awards For Best Articles

Three University of Nebraska students have received awards for the best articles published in Blue Print, official undergraduate publication of the College of Engineering and Architecture.

Jerry Thacker of Omaha received the $25 first prize for his article on gate City Steel of Omaha, entitled "Putting Steel To Use." Thacker is a sophomore majoring in mechanical engineering and has been employed by the Omaha company.

Bill Daily, sophomore from Lincoln, received the $15 second prize. His article discussed a revolutionary method of cutting extra-hard metals by electric spark machining. Daily is majoring in civil engineering.

The $10 third prize went to Sanford McConnell, Omaha freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences. He wrote on "Haling the Jet" and detailed several approaches industry is attempting in solving the problem of slowing down jet aircraft for landing.

Patriarchs Elect New Officers

Tuesday night was election night for the members of the Patriarchs Club who held their annual business meeting at the Lincoln Country Club. Paramount on the agenda was the election of new officers and, of course, new members. The 1956-57 official staff will include Mrs.

Sanford Porter, president; Mrs. Richard Wilson, vice president, and William H. Browne Jr., secretary-treasurer.

The new members are Mr. and Mrs. Foster Woodruff. Pictured above are the new officers, with the exception of Mr. Browne who is out of town,

SUBURBIA

Things are quieter than usual in Country Club Manor this week — didn't hear any rumors of neighborhood coffees—found no birthday parties in the near future and no guests for the immediate days ahead—However, we did discover a birthday celebration during the past week-end—a homecoming, and news of a bridge club meeting this evening—

Our birthday celebrant was Scott Hecker who was 10 years old just the other day and who celebrated the event with a picnic supper in the back garden at his home. The guest list included a group of Scott's contemporaries and their parents. Scott, by the way, is the son of Capt. and Mrs. George Hecker.

Heard that Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Yost have returned to their home in Hebron after spending a week-end as the guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Wilken.

And last Monday there were services at the Merle Beattie School for the young feminine set in Country Club Manor who are just beginning their Camp Fire work. At the same meeting a group of full-fledged Camp Fire Girls received higher ranks.

Tonight is the night that Lt. and Mrs. Edward C. Dewey will be host and hostess at their home when they entertain the members of their bridge club. Following an evening of bridge a late supper will be served.

Someone told us that Mr. and Mrs. James Wirth were back in town after a vacation spent in Colorado.

PTA Concludes Year

The final meeting of the season for BETHANY PTA was held Tuesday evening when the program honored the sixth grade pupils. The new officers of the group were formally installed, and following group singing a social hour was held with mothers of fifth graders as hostesses.

Mrs. H. B. Conant presided at the meeting.

HUNTINGTON PTA heard selections by the school orchestra directed by Mrs. Darlene Miller at the Tuesday evening meeting which was opened by the Rev. Thomas G. Johnson, rector of St. David's Church, Episcopal.

Talks on summer recreation in the city were given by Bernard Nevin, supervisor of city parks programs; Miss Pauline Demaree of the city library; Mrs. Shirley Lott, YWCA; and Mrs. Doris Pierce, city recreation department.

Miss Faith Kimberly and Mrs. Lois Schleiger of the faculty presided at the refreshment table and hostesses were Mrs. Marvin Dudley, Mrs. R. W. Barham, Mrs. James Peden, Mrs. A. P. Samuels and Mrs. Stephen Kyles.

The Rev. Vance Rogers presented the devotional service which opened the Tuesday afternoon meeting of PRESOTT PTA. Mrs. William McDermet, outgoing president of the Lincoln Council of PTA, installed the unit's new officers, and a talk was given on the plans for the proposed community hospital.

At the close of the afternoon, refreshments were served by mothers of sixth graders.

Members of EVERETT PTA and their families met at the school Tuesday evening for an informal, covered dish supper. Special guests were members of the faculty and honored with a gift was Mrs. Ruth Place, Everett School principal, who is retiring this spring.

A program was presented by a group of pupils, and Mrs. Lyle Caywood installed the following new officers: co-presidents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Heidenrich; vice presidents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lisby; secretaries, Mr. and Mrs. Gale Anderson; and treasurer, Mrs. Orville Hanne-

NEWS OF THIS AND THAT

THERE'S a visitor in town this week that will be of interest to many Lincoln people — She is Mrs. A. H. Armstrong, who will be remembered by many of her friends as Tip Inman, of Los Angeles, Calif., formerly of Lincoln.

Mrs. Armstrong stopped off in Lincoln en route home from New York City where she docked a few days ago after a world cruise on the SS Caronia —The 33,000 miles she traveled took her first to South America, and eventually around the coast of Africa—to India, and scores of exciting places.

Mrs. Armstrong plans to remain in Lincoln three or four days, and during her brief stay will be kept busy with informal courtesies—

ON Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Roth entertained most informally at dinner honoring Mrs. Armstrong, and the small guest list included only a few of Mrs. Armstrong's close friends.

AND today Mrs. F. R. Mullen will pay courtesy to Mrs. Armstrong when she entertains a group of Mrs. Armstrong's old friends at luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club.

SOMEONE told us that Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Campbell hid themselves off to their favorite rendezvous — their summer home in the Canadian north woods — last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell plan to be away a month.

MORE news of travelers involves Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Sickel and Mr. and Mrs. Craig O'Brien who at the moment, are attending a convention in Kansas City.

LEAVING on Monday to return to her home in Palos Verdes Estates, Calif., was Mrs. A. Maxwell Klum who had been spending the past 10 days as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Lawrence.

JUST heard that the executive board of the Mr. and Mrs. Danc-ing Club met at the home of the club's new presidents, Mr. and Mrs. Robin Loerch, for a steak-fry last Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Loerch have just been elected president of the Mr. and Mrs. club, and the new vice-president couple is Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kuska.

The executive board, we learned, is a permanent board and is composed of the charter members of the club. It includes Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Diers, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Robin Loerch,

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Sanders, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Gartner and Mr. and Mrs. Wes Bailey.

THIS morning Kappa Alpha Theta's Mary Jo Shainholtz of Omaha makes announcement that her marriage to Robert T. Folk will take place on June 30. The bride-elect also announces the members of the bridal party which includes Mrs. William Shainholtz of Lincoln, the former Judy Wiebe, who is to be the matron of honor; Miss Sandra Stevens, Miss Ann Strang, Omaha, and Miss Judy Hope of Wichita, Kan., the bridesmaids. Miss Mary Ducker of Lincoln will be the junior bridesmaid.

James Feese of Tecumseh will serve Mr. Folk as best man, and the ushers will be William Shainholtz, brother of the bride-elect; Jim Snyder of Hyannis, and Roger Folk of Hol-drege, brother of the bride-groom.

Announce June Wedding Plans

The wedding of Miss Karen Blaser and Earl Vincent Sloan, Jr., of Galesburg, Ill., will be an event of Friday, June 1, and will take place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at the East Lincoln Christian Church.

Miss Blaser has named as her maid of honor and only attendant Miss Jean Morrison of Albion. Ronald Hanson of Galesburg will serve Mr. Sloan as best man.

Included among recent courtesies honoring the bride-elect was the miscellaneous shower last week for which Miss Morrison was hostess to 12 guests.

Sunday, June 3, also will be the date for the marriage of Miss Joyce Goering and Dale Stukenholtz which will take place at Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church at Talmage.

Miss Goering has named her sister, Mrs. Boyd Wakelin of Brock as her matron of honor, and her bridesmaids will be Miss Marilyn Duellke, Miss Sharon Willard and Miss Carol Goering, also a sister of the bride-to-be. Mr. Stukenholtz's niece, Ann Stukenholtz, will be the flower girl, and ringbearer will be Greg Stukenholtz, a nephew of the bridegroom-elect.

Boyd Wakelin will serve as best man, and the corps of ushers will include George Stukenholtz, Willis Kriz, Marvin Adovick, Dwight Hahn, and Mr. Stukenholtz's brothers, Roger Stukenholtz and Stanley Stukenholtz.

Preceding the 8 o'clock evening service, the candles will be lighted by Kenneth Goering, brother of the bride-to-be, and Paul Critchlow.

Miss Beth Kampman has announced that her marriage to James Edwin Batt of Lincoln will take place on Sunday, June 3, at Elmwood. For her maid of honor, Miss Kampman has chosen her sister, Miss Merwin Kampman, and her bridesmaid will be Miss Clarissa Meyer of Omaha.

Preceding the service, the candles will be lighted by Mr. Batt's sisters, Miss Carol Batt and Miss Linda Batt of Lincoln.

D. E. Batt will serve his brother as best man and the ushers will be Gary Batt, also a brother of the bridegroom-elect, and Joe Kelly.

Last Saturday evening, Miss Kampman was honored at a pre-nuptial courtesy given by members of the congregations of Immanuel EUB Church near Murdock and of St. Paul's EUB Church at Elmwood. The honoree was presented a miscellaneous shower.

This morning, Miss Marilyn Beideck has announced further plans for her marriage to Dean C. Sloan which will be an event of Saturday afternoon, June 9. The 4:30 o'clock ceremony will be solemnized at Westminster Presbyterian Church.

Miss Virginia Wilcox will be the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Mary Jean Harpstreith of Fremont, Miss Shirley Glantz of Harvard, Miss Beverly Flack, Miss Nadine Snyder, Miss Susan Enyeart, Miss Joan Knudson, Mrs. Stanley Matzke, and Miss Joy Wagner.

The candles will be lighted by Miss Bonnie Beideck, sister of the bride-elect, and Miss Joleen Kapeller.

Sam Sloan of North Platte will serve his brother as best man and the guests will be seated by James Feese of Tecumseh, Joe Poynter of Kearney, Fred Larkin of Omaha, Joe Carter, James Miller, Jack von Gilern, Samuel Haupt and Ronald Beideck, brother of the bride-elect.

Included among recent courtesies honoring Miss Beideck was the personal shower last Monday evening which was held at the home of Mrs. Harley Grasmick. The 17 guests spent the evening hours informally and co-hostesses with Mrs. Grasmick were Miss Nadine Snyder and Mrs. William Hahn.

Last Wednesday evening, the bride-elect's aunt Mrs. Mollie Hahn was hostess at her home honoring her niece, and recently Miss Virginia Wilcox entertained at a bridal shower in courtesy to Miss Beideck.

Holmes Annual Maypole Dance

To climax the May Play Day program of Holmes School on Tuesday morning, held in a roped-off section of 52nd street, fourth grade girls presented a traditional Maypole dance. The annual program also included calisthenics and tumbling, a variety of folk dances and games, under the direction of Mrs. Rose Meile, physical education director.

The program featured: "The Hokey Pokey", by the kindergarten classes; "Jimmy Crack Corn", first grades; "Shoemak-ers" dance, second grades; "Chimes of Dunkirk," third grades; and English and Danish folk dances by the fourth and fifth grades.

Earlier Tuesday morning, the PTA met at the school for breakfast and installation of officers for the coming year.

Speaking of Beauty

by Ralph

Time was, you know, when a lady lifted her morale by choosing a new hat. Now she goes a step further, gets volumes more in personal satisfaction by choosing a new hair colour.

If you haven't yet discovered what the exciting difference of colour can make in your life, chances are you'll want to try it soon. The change need not be drastic, of course, just a new warmth and sparkle, to brighten brown. Or a bit of dazzle to make dishwater hair readily blonde.

Nobody need wait till the hair is grey before changing its shade any more. Now Ralph Holloway the beauty authorities tell us hair colour is fast becoming as easily selected as lipstick and nail polish. It's even more becoming, gathers dozens more compliments, because it's like finding a whole new you!

No time to shower before the party? Sponge yourself with your favorite cologne. Use a big foamy sponge. Mix your own special fluid—one part cologne, two parts clear water—if you'd rather not use up quite so much fragrance. This refreshing trick is extra-nice in hot weather, especially when you use ice cubes with your cologne.

LOTS OF LIQUIDS make for a pretty skin. Girls whose complexions are clear and glowing recommend at least a pint of fruit juice per day—preferably orange or grapefruit. Never drink less than three tumblers of water each day.

Do your curls droop between settings? Hair Spray is the miracle that will keep them in place. Try inserting a few carefully-placed clips at bedtime, to preserve your salon set. Then spray ever so lightly, before you put on your hairnet and hit the pillow.

We recommend the "Aqua Net" ... free of lacquer and water soluble.

Lincoln, Capital Hotels, 17 Others In Eppley Chain, Sold

Price Said To Exceed $30 Million

... 'No Local Changes'

Sale of 19 Eppley hotels, including two in Lincoln, to Sheraton Corporation of America will mean no change in the management of the two Eppley hotels here, spokesmen said.

Charles Dolan is manager of the Lincoln Hotel at 9th and P which was built in 1894. An addition was built in 1911.

Harold Goodwin manages the Capital Hotel at 11th and P.

Eugene C. Eppley, a midwest chain-hotel pioneer, bought both in 1925, razed the old Capital and built a new hotel on the same site.

Eppley and Ernest Henderson, president of Sheraton, announced the sale jointly Tuesday in Omaha, where Eppley made his headquarters at the Fontenelle.

Sale price of the 19 hotels was "in excess of $30 million," Henderson said. The price paid for the two Lincoln properties was not disclosed.

Three To Be Leased

The three other hotels of the 29 in the Eppley chain will be operated by Sheraton under lease. The 22 hotels will be operated by the Eppley division of Sheraton Corporation, with headquarters remaining in Omaha.

Nebraska hotels sold to Sheraton, besides the two in Lincoln and the Fontenelle in Omaha, were the Logan and Rome, also in Omaha; the Evans in Columbus, the Madison in Norfolk and the Lincoln in Scottsbluff.

Among the Eppley hotels purchased outright were the 1,500-room William Penn in Pittsburgh, one of the nation's largest, and the 500-room Seelbach in Louisville, Ky.

Other Eppley hotels are the Montrose in Cedar Rapids, Lafayette and Clinton in Clinton, Chieftain in Council Bluffs, Tallcorn in Marshalltown, Martin and Warrior in Sioux City, all in Iowa; The Elms and The Oaks in Excelsior Springs, Mo.; Carpenter and Cataract in Sioux Falls and Alex Johnson in Rapid City, S.D.

Change May 31

All Eppley hotels are in cities in which Sheraton did not previously own or operate hotels, Henderson pointed out.

Sheraton is scheduled to take over the new properties May 31 from the Eugene C. Eppley Foundation.

Eppley, who owned all his properties outright and had no partners or stockholders, has been a Sheraton director for six years and also is a director of Braniff International Airways Inc.

Reported to have substantial stock holdings in the Statler-Hilton chain, Eppley has long been one of the wealthiest independent hotelmen in the world.

He began his hotel career as a laborer in 1902 when he was 18 and by 1924 he owned 12 hotels valued at $5 million.

Sheraton's acquisition of 5,400 Eppley rooms thrusts the Sheraton chain to the front ranks as the seventh largest industry in the nation.

The chain, which had taken over 34 hotels since early 1954, now has 24,360 rooms in 54 hotels in the U.S. and Canada.

Sheraton is building new hotels in Philadelphia and Dallas and has budgeted $100 million for expansion in the next five years.

Knew What To Do

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—When police officers D. E. Jerome and Kenyon Krider found a barefooted man in a parked car, they knew just what to do.

They whipped out a shoe they had found a few minutes before in an alley while investigating a jewelry store burglary.

Sure enough, there was a shoe in the car which they said matched the one from the alley.

The barefooted man and his companion are now charged with first degree burglary. They gave the names of Joseph Ward and Marsh Fisher, airmen from Mountain Home Air Force Base.

Toews, Hastings, inspector; Sylvia Folk, Lincoln, field inspector.

Chairman of the executive board is Mrs. Ruth Layher, Grand Island. Mrs. Bray and Mrs. Toews will be delegate and alternate to the national convention.

Workers at a hardware making plant can take a drink of beer after work again without turning a cherry red—thanks to State Health Department experts. The department was called in after eight workmen complained that if they drank alcoholic beverages after work their faces and arms would turn red, they were troubled with rapid heart beat, nausea and general discomfort. It was found the workers were breathing fumes from a solvent known as trichlorethylene, used to clean hardware fixtures, and a compound called pyridine, used to prevent rusting. A toxic reaction to the compounds was triggered by drinking alcoholic beverages. Industrial specialists solved the problem by isolating and ventilating the area where the cleaning solvents were used.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Brave UCLA Students To Don Bruin Grid Armor?

By BOB MYERS
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Indignation and dismay gripped this extremely football-minded city Tuesday over the punishment handed to the football forces of UCLA.

One writer declared, possibly with a straight face but obviously in a spirit of rage:

"The brave Bruins will have to play Michigan, Southern California and California next fall with students."

This may be true. The official roster of "outlawed" players, ruled ineligible by Pacific Coast Conference fathers, until they can prove their innocence, won't be known for days.

School authorities apparently won't be able to identify the ineligible until the athletes have presented their defense.

Sanders Says Prospects Dim
At Vancouver, B. C., where the conference met and dealt out the punishment for athletes allegedly receiving $40 a month more than the $75 allowed by the PCC, UCLA Coach Henry R. (Red) Sanders admitted the prospects were dark indeed.

Could he field a team in the fall? Sanders said he could, "but the Humane Society might take a dim view of it."

One of the first players asked about his status was Ronnie Knox, star halfback and the key player in the UCLA plans.

Knox flatly said he did not receive more than the $75 allowed and he would welcome a chance to prove his claim.

There are an even dozen seniors who won't be able to play unless they can prove themselves not guilty. Each figured in Sanders' battle plans, 10 of them as starters.

They include backs Knox, Bob

Bergdahl, Bruce Ballard, Doug Bradley, Gerry McDougall, and Don Shinnick; ends Pete O'Garro and Tom Adams; tackles Chuck Gelfand and Preston Dills, and guards Don Birren and Tom Thaxter.

"I am absolutely eligible and I am perfectly willing to undergo any test which the Coast Conference may deem necessary to prove that I am eligible," said young Knox.

Ronnie's stepfather, Harvey Knox, added, "I'll tell you something else. He's never been offered one penny on the side."

UCLA, for three straight years champion of the conference, can hardly hope to persuade many, if any, top flight players to enroll at Westwood.

The school cannot participate in the Rose Bowl game until 1960. With its strength crippled by the one-year blanket edict of ineligibility for all varsity and freshman players—unless they prove their purity—the prospect of fielding a major college team seem remote.

Assistant football coaches at UCLA held a brief meeting with the players at Spaulding Field at noon. Jim Myers, the senior aide to Sanders, said the athletes were acquainted with details of the Vancouver meeting.

Mainly, the players were told to forget the situation until Sanders, Athletic Director Wilbur Johns and faculty representative Dr. Joseph Kaplan return to the campus to give advice on the next move.

"Skip it now and get down to studying for your examinations next week," Myers told the players.

There was no demonstration on the campus but the fate of the Bruins was the subject of discussion throughout the school.

FORD HANDLED FIRST LOSS

Clutch Home Run Snaps Yankee Win String, 3-2

By DAVE DILES
DETROIT (AP) — SECOND-DILES catcher Red Wilson, who had only six hits all season, crashed a two-run home run in the bottom of the ninth inning Tuesday and gave the Detroit Tigers a 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees and dealt southpaw Whitey Ford his first loss.

The dramatic clout which followed a lead-off double by Charlie Maxwell broke six-game streaks for both Ford and the Yankees.

... 5th Straight Loss Drops Lincoln To Third

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Topeka lowered the boom on Lincoln Tuesday night, crashing out 14 hits that featured three home runs as the Hawks grabbed undisputed leadership in the Western League with a 12-3 victory.

Southpaw Marshall Birdges, although suffering from wildness at times, notched his fourth triumph against a single defeat as he checked the invaders on five hits. Birdges struck out 13 but nine walks kept him in trouble.

Goodman Hits Homer? Bosox Whip Indians

CLEVELAND (AP)—Tom Brewer, Boston Red Sox right-hander, pitched his sixth straight victory over the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night, beating them 5-3 with the aid of a two-run homer by Billy Goodman, his first in 184 games.

Goodman's homer in the seventh inning, his first since Sept. 18, 1954, proved decisive. Brewer weakened in the ninth and needed help from Dave Sisler, who stopped an Indians rally two runs short of tying the game.

Three unearned runs in the first inning helped defeat Cleveland starter Early Wynn. Goodman led off with a single, and scored on errors by Bob Avila and Vic Wertz and a wild pitch. A single by Don Buddin drove in two more runs.

Brewer, who hasn't lost to the Indians since first of May of last year, wasn't in serious trouble until two were out in the eighth. A double by Al Smith and a single by Vic Wertz scored Cleveland's first run. Preston Ward followed with a double that sent Wertz to third, but Brewer got pinchhitter Hal Naragon to ground out to the shortstop.

The victory gave Brewer a 5-1 record. It was Wynn's second loss in six decisions.

Frank Lary, who had lost three one-run games and had only one victory in six decisions, gained the triumph in a tight duel with the Yankee lefthander.

Lary restricted New York to three harmless singles after a first-inning uprising when the Bombers scored both their runs on four hits.

But Lary came back strong and faced only 19 men in the last six innings—one over the minimum.

Maxwell, who had failed to hit in two official trips against Ford, opened the Detroit ninth with a line double to left center and raced to third when the ball trickled past center fielder Mickey Mantle.

Then Wilson, who went into the game batting .250, sent Ford's first pitch flying into the lower left field seats for the victory.

After the Yankees staked Ford to the early two-run lead he was a most untouchable until the Tigers reached him for three singles in the eighth, spoiling his bid for a second shutout.

Harvey Kuenn singled to open the Detroit eighth and Al Kaline, hitless in his first three trips, singled him to third. Bill Tittle's single past shortstop scored Kuenn with Detroit's first run. After walking Bob Kennedy to fill the bases with one out, Ford forced Jack Phillips to tap weakly to the mound for an inning-ending double play.

The Yankees threatened to make a run-away of it in the first inning. Hank Bauer singled, Billy Martin doubled and Joe Collins singled across the first run. After Mantle popped out to the catcher, Eddie Robinson drove in the second run with a line single to right.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Young Troy Herriage pitched a three-hit Tuesday night while his Kansas City teammates strolled around the bases for a 6-1 victory over the Washington Senators.

The Athletics base runners took their time as Washington starter Dean Stone and 3 relief pitchers walked 11, forcing 3 runs in the fifth. Two more scored in that inning on a double by Harry Simpson.

coln scored once in the sixth on singles by Ray Swarts and Joe Zavatario and a walk.

The third Lincoln run came in the ninth when Dick Stuart homered with the bases empty.

Safe At Home

Frank Robinson, Cincinnati Redlegs' fleet outfielder, is safe at home when New York Giant catcher Wes Westrum loses the ball in the sixth inning at the Pol

Los Angeles Bids Again Nats Squelch Rumors; Club Not For Sale

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Senators declared emphatically Tuesday they intend to keep their American League franchise in the nation's capital.

"Reports to the contrary are without foundation," the club said.

The Senators put out a statement denying reports they may shift operations to another city after Rep. Hillings (R-Calif) urged Mayor Norris Poulson of Los Angeles to "explore the possibilities" of buying the Washington franchise.

Hillings, in a telegram to Poulson, said the Senators' management faces a "serious crisis" because "lack of interest in the Capital City indicates inability to support a winning ball club here."

Followed Newspaper Report
The Californian's move followed a published report Monday (Washington Evening Star) that if attendance at Griffith Stadium keeps falling off, the Washington club may go elsewhere.

Calvin Griffith, the Senators' president, personally took part in drafting Tuesday's statement which said:

"These careless rumors are based on the false premise that the Washington ball club is facing a serious crisis and that attendance is very poor."

"The facts are that the Washington club faces no crisis whatsoever and that attendance is above what it was a year ago."

The statement noted that for 18 home games this season 123,295 spectators have paid their way into Griffith Stadium in contrast to 118,330 over a similar span last year.

"Never Considered" Move
The club "has never considered and does not contemplate" moving to Los Angeles or any other city.

"We are not opposed to major league baseball on the West Coast. We simply urge those interested to look elsewhere and not to Washington for their franchise."

Musial Sparks Cardinals To 6-3 Victory Over Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals scored two runs in the seventh Tuesday night to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-3 and snap a Pirate three-game winning streak.

Stan Musial's single, his second of the night, scored what proved to be the winning run.

The victory went to Herm Wehmeier, his first of the year against three defeats. Wehmeier was relieved by Jackie Collum in the seventh.

Neither Wehmeier nor Collum could stop the booming bat of Dale Long, big Pirate first baseman. He had a single, double and a home run in four trips. The homer was his 10th. He now has a .411 batting average, highest in the majors.

Despite threatening weather, a crowd of 19,316 watched the contest. It was the largest night crowd here since June 6, 1952.

Vernon Law, Pirate right-hander, who lost his third game against a single win, was shelled out in the seventh when the Cards scored twice on a walk and singles by Grady Hatton, Musial and Ken Boyer.

Bob Del Greco former Pirate outfielder, had two singles in four trips. He got his first hit in the second when the Cards scored twice on two hits and an error.

The Pirates scored their first run in the fourth on singles by Bill Virdon, Long and an outfield fly. They tallied again in the sixth on Long's homer and got their final marker in the seventh on a pinch-hit double by Lee Walls after Dick Groat had singled.

The Cards scored once in the sixth on a walk, a hit batsman and Del Greco's second hit. In the ninth, Boyer doubled home another run.

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant
Sports Editor, The Star

The Lincoln Chiefs return to Sherman Field Thursday night and "Loyal Fan, C.W.S.," has something to say on the subject.

So the stage is his:

"How about every fan in the city of Lincoln and suburbs making it a point to bring another (halfway) fan (your friend at work or a neighbor) and make it a real good welcome for Larry Shepard and his Chiefs. That television set won't gather co-eds and 'Godfrey' will sound just as windy the next time you get him."

"We all realize that the beginning of the season was too cold for baseball, but there were a few nights that 300-500 and 700 faithful fans and myself got by without catching the sniffles or the flu bug. . . . Now why in the name of 'Pete' can't a thousand or more do it and support the team?"

"Mr. Wagner and the board can't do it all. Even if this present team drops in the standings (and I hope they do, then come back strong again), they are hitting the ball, running hard and trying to correct their errors."

"I don't know how the morale of the team is and I haven't got the slightest idea how the boys like Shepard's firmness and get-tough policy, but the fans like it and it's paying dividends."

"Several people have noticed his (hand on knee) position on the dugout rail, observing the game instead of hiding in the corner throwing stones. . . . He corrects the boys and talks over mistakes when they come in off the field to bat. He's got spirit and guts to stick it out until the ninth inning's third out, keeping the team alive every minute, not just part of the time."

"Even if they lose, this team is worth watching and deserves a hand. . . . I think the least the people of Lincoln can do for the Chiefs is to give the game a good going-over and then give the players some good surprise applause and yelling. OK?"

Comment: OK! See you at Sherman Field.

Another fan what's to know how Bennie Daniels got credit for the 20-16 victory over Amarillo recently, since he pitched only one inning and Lincoln had the lead when he came into the game.

Comment: This point caused some confusion in the office when the box score arrived because Tom Mulcahy and Andy Olsen had both helped preserve Lincoln's lead. In fact, Mulcahy was the pitcher of record when the Chiefs took the lead and he drove in the lead runs.

The official scorer is charged with the responsibility for determining the winning pitcher, and his job can become one of judgment when there are a series of relief pitchers.

Apparently the OS at Amarillo thought Mulcahy and Olsen were ineffective in this particular game (which is something only he can rule on) and thought Daniels did the most to preserve the victory. (Bennie came in with the bases loaded and none out, then retired the side to save the win.)

The scorer's Manual backs up the Amarillo OS. In Section 10.17 (c-5) the "book" says:

"Do not credit a game won to a relief pitcher who pitches briefly and ineffectively and is the pitcher of record when his team assumes a lead which it maintains to the finish of the game. If a succeeding relief pitcher pitches effectively in helping to maintain his team in the lead credit such a succeeding relief pitcher with the victory."

Thus, it all depends on the interpretation of "effectively" and "ineffectively."

What counts more, though, is that the Chiefs won the game. And every win helps.

LCC's Williamson Wins Berth In National PGA

BEATRICE — Bud Williamson, Lincoln Country Club pro, won the Nebraska PGA 36-hole qualifying berth in the National PGA meet.

Williamson won an extra-hole playoff to win the spot. He fired a 71-73-144, which was matched by Matt Zadalis of Omaha with a 72-72-144 over the regular route.

Williamson carded a par 4 on the extra hole. Zadalis had a 5.

The National Meet will be held in Boston.

The scores fired by the nine Nebraska pros in the meet will be used in the National Golf Day scoring June 9.

The Beatrice meet was also considered the Nebraska PGA tournament.

Braves Assigns Nichols To Wichita

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Left-hander Chet Nichols of the Milwaukee Braves Monday was assigned outright to Wichita, Kan., the Braves' American Assn. farm club. The move made room for the return of lefthander Gene Conley from the disabled list May 25.

Nichols has pitched only four innings this season, compiling an 0-1 record in two appearances. He was charged with a 6-5 defeat at St. Louis April 21. In two games he gave up three runs, nine hits, including one home run, struck out two and walked three.

Lack of control has plagued Nichols since he came out of the Army three years ago.

Dodgers Sent To Fourth As Milwaukee Wins, 7-3

BROOKLYN (AP) — Home runs by Johnny Logan, Ed Mathews and Hank Aaron, who also batted a double and two singles in a 13-hit barrage, powered the National League-leading Milwaukee Braves to a 7-3 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers Tuesday night. The defeat, second straight for Carl Erskine since he pitched his no-hitter May 12, dropped the Dodgers to fourth place.

Right-hander Bob Buhl, who also defeated Erskine in the only other meeting this season between the two pennant contenders, picked up his third victory against two defeats, but needed help. In trouble much of the way, Buhl was yanked after giving up his ninth hit, a two-run homer by Sandy Amoros in the eighth, and Dave Jolly finished in relief.

Erskine, who has failed to finish both starts since his no-hit job on the New York Giants, left for a pinch-hitter in the sixth. It was a 2-1 ball game at that point, with Aaron's second-inning homer, his fourth, and singles by Aaron and Bobby Thomson in the fourth giving Milwaukee the edge.

The Braves wrapped it up in the seventh, roughing up Clem Labine, the Dodgers' relief ace, after a two-out error by first baseman Gil Hodges. The miscue on Danny O'Connell's grounder was converted to a 4-1 lead on Logan's homer, his third, to the upper deck in left field. Mathews then swatted his No. 5 over the right-field screen.

All three runs were unearned, but they ended Labine's string of scoreless relief innings at 15-1-3. Aaron, hitting in his ninth straight game, upped his batting average from .282 to .313 with the 4-for-5 night.

Knox Says He's Eligible

Ronnie Knox (right), star back for the UCLA Bruins, tells newsmen during an interview on the UCLA campus Tuesday that "I did not get one cent more than the $75 a month distributed by the Associated Students, and allowed under Pacific Coast Conference Rules." The interview and statement were prompted after the conference ruled that the entire Bruin varsity and freshman football squads will lose a year's eligibility unless they can prove they had received no illegal financial aid. Sowell Aims For Third 880 Crown

NEW YORK — Pittsburgh's Arnie Sowell, America's top hope for the Olympic 800-meter run, will concentrate on the half mile and anchor Pitt's mile relay team in the IC4A track and field championships Friday and Saturday at Randall's Island.

Pitt Coach Carl Olson advised Meet Director Asa Bushnell Tuesday that the slender senior will shoot for a third consecutive 880-yard title. The 5-11, 135-pound comet is out to equal the three-straight record set by John Woodruff, another Pitt great, who won the Olympic title and captured the IC4A 880 championships in 1937, 1938 and 1939.

Woodruff never had the competition in his college years that Sowell has had. Pushed by Fordham's Tom Courtney, Sowell broke the IC4A record two years ago with a 1:50.3 clocking and smashed that last year with a 1:49.1 performance.

This year Arnie will match strides with Ron Delany, Villanova's noted miler who will be shooting for a mile and half-mile double, a feat that has been accomplished six times. Besides Delany, Sowell will be pushed by Syracuse's Les Viebig and Manhattan's Tom Murphy, both better than 1:53 half-milers.

Only Monday, Australia's John Landy cited Sowell as a potential breaker of the mile record because of his "economy of stride and great speed."

Delany, clocked in 4:04.9 this year by Maryland's Burr Grim last year, Grim will be trying to repeat.

Phillies Sign Elmer Valo

PHILADELPHIA (INS) — The Philadelphia Phillies, desperate for some lefthanded hitting in the batting order, Tuesday signed veteran outfielder Elmer Valo, who was released by Kansas City.

The Phillies, who have only one other regular lefty hitter in the lineup — switch-hitter Richie Ashburn — sent Glenn Gorbous to Miami of the International League on 24-hour recall to make room for Valo.

The 35-year-old Valo, who makes his home in Palmerton, Pa., was batting .250 for the Athletics when he was released. He will go to rightfield for the Phils.

Dodgers Sent To Fourth As Milwaukee Wins, 7-3

BROOKLYN (AP) — Home runs by Johnny Logan, Ed Mathews and Hank Aaron, who also banged a double and two singles in a 13-hit barrage, powered the National League-leading Milwaukee Braves to a 7-3 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers Tuesday night. The defeat, second straight for Carl Erskine since he pitched his no-hitter May 12, dropped the Brooks to fourth place.

at O'Shea Rogers Highest volume FORD sales in Nebraska mean LOWER prices to you!

We're proud to say that during the first quarter of 1956, O'Shea Rogers sold more Ford Motor Company products than any other Ford Dealer in Nebraska.
 HERE'S WHAT THAT MEANS TO YOU: The more new Fords we sell, the less it costs us to handle each one. And we pass those savings along to you. Volume sales also enable us to offer you the best trade-in allowances.
 HERE ARE TWO MORE FACTS TO KEEP IN MIND: (1) We handle our own financing, which means we can sell you a new Ford for a minimum down payment and finance the rest at low bank rates. (2) Through our modern service facilities, we are prepared to fulfill completely the terms of the new car warranty, and to give your car the best in continued care for a longer life of better service.

Get the FACTS - Save money - Protect your investment

All new Fords leaving the assembly line go directly to a franchised dealer. Anyone else has to purchase their Fords from a franchised dealer. So don't be misled by supposed discounts and deals.
 No one can sell Fords for less... no one can offer you better, more convenient financing... no one can better service your car than O'Shea Rogers, your franchised Ford Dealer for 35 years.

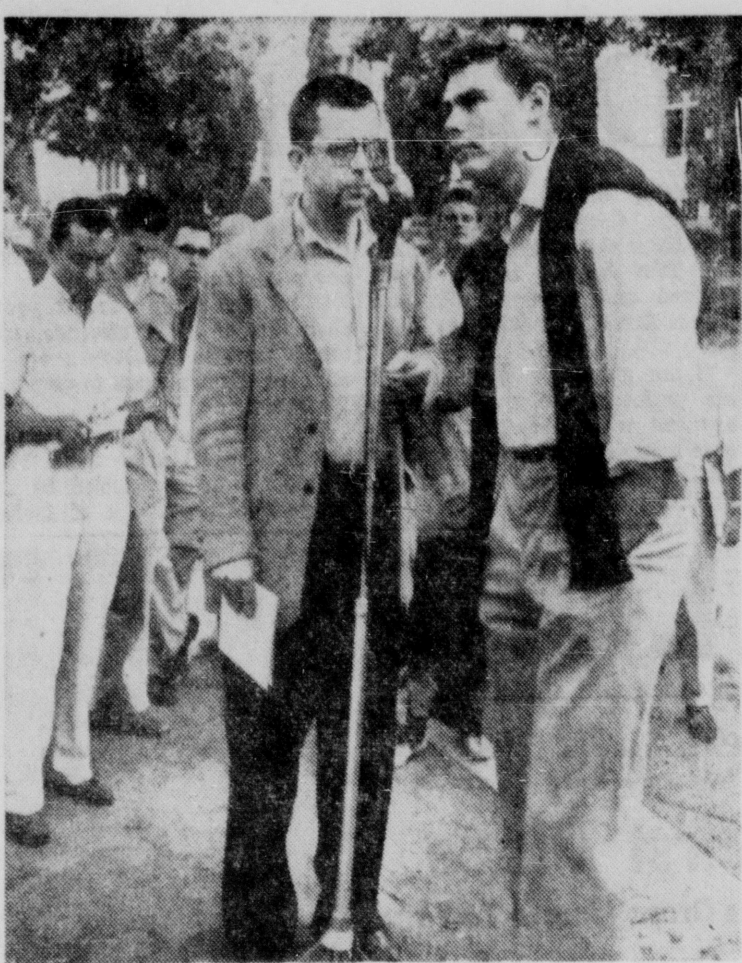

Looking for a LATE MODEL USED CAR?

Because of our high volume new car sales, we can offer an outstanding selection of excellent late model used cars, all priced to move and all offered with convenient financing.

Knox Says He's Eligible

Ronnie Knox (right), star back for the UCLA Bruins, tells newsmen during an interview on the UCLA campus Tuesday that "I did not get one cent more than the $75 a month distributed by the Associated Students, and allowed under Pacific Coast Conference Rules." The interview and statement were prompted after the conference ruled that the entire Bruin varsity and freshman football squads will lose a year's eligibility unless they can prove they had received no illegal financial aid. Weigand Saves Dodger Victory

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Pueblo's Larry Sherry, with ninth-inning relief help from Dick Weigand, chalked up his fifth victory against one loss in the Western League Tuesday night, defeating Albuquerque, 6-5.

Sherry, shaky in the late innings, went out with one out and a man on second in the ninth inning and with two in. Chuck Lundgren greeted Weigand for a run-scoring single, but the right-hander struck out Tom Pollet and got a force out to save the victory.

Sowell Aims For Third 880 Crown

NEW YORK (AP) — Pittsburgh's Arnie Sowell, America's top hope for the Olympic 800-meter run, will concentrate on the half mile and anchor Pitt's mile relay team in the IC4A track and field championships Friday and Saturday at Randalls Island.

Pitt Coach Carl Olson advised Meet Director Asa Bushnell Tuesday that the slender senior will shoot for a third consecutive 880-yard title. The 5-11, 135-pound comet is out to equal the three-straight record set by John Woodruff, another Pitt great, who won the Olympic title and captured the IC4A 880 championships in 1937, 1938 and 1939.

Woodruff never had the competition in his college years that Sowell has had. Pushed by Fordham's Tom Courtney, Sowell broke the IC4A record two years ago with a 1:50.3 clocking and smashed that last year with a 1:49.1 performance.

This year Arnie will match strides with Ron Delany, Villanova's noted miler who will be shooting for a mile and half-mile double, a feat that has been accomplished six times. Besides Delany, Sowell will be pushed by Syracuse's Les Vielbig and Manhattan's Tom Murphy, both better than 1:53 half-milers.

Only Monday, Australia's John Landy cited Sowell as a potential breaker of the mile record because of his "economy of stride and great speed."

Delany, clocked in 4:04.9 Tuesday by Maryland's Burr Grim last year. Grim will be trying to repeat.

Phillies Sign Elmer Valo

PHILADELPHIA (INS) — The Philadelphia Phillies, desperate for some lefthanded hitting in the batting order, Tuesday signed veteran outfielder Elmer Valo, who was released by Kansas City.

The Phillies, who have only one other regular lefty hitter in the lineup — switch-hitter Richie Ashburn — sent Glenn Gorbos to Miami of the International League on 24-hour recall to make room for Valo.

The 35-year-old Valo, who makes his home in Palmerton, Pa., was batting .250 for the Athletics when he was released. He will go to rightfield for the Phils.

'Easy Ed' Signs St. Louis Contract

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks of the National Basketball Assn. announced the signing of Easy Ed Macauley, whom they acquired recently from the Boston Celtics.

Macauley, former St. Louis University All-America and eighth leading scorer in the NBA last season, was reported to have signed for about $15,000.

The Hawks also announced the signing of rookie Dave Plunkett, 6-8 college star who averaged 18 points a game with Cincinnati University last season.

Bob Pettit, only other Hawk under contract, signed a two-year pact last year.

Amarillo Home Run Spree Tips Sky Sox

AMARILLO (AP) — A combination of five Amarillo home runs and effective pitching by Hoyt Benedict produced a 9-6 victory over the Colorado Springs Sky Sox here Tuesday night.

Bill Shields with two home runs to drive in three runs led the Amarillo attack. Cuno Barragan, Art Cutti and Ted Bell also homered for the Gold Sox. Dick Ditusa and Bobby Winkles banged homers for Colorado Springs.

Robinson's Hits Boost Redlegs Past Giants, 6-3

NEW YORK (AP) — Powered by Frank Robinson's home run, double and single, the Cincinnati Redlegs rallied to overcome the New York Giants 6-3 Tuesday and move into the thick of the battle for first place in the scrambled National League pennant race.

Robinson put on a whale of a show for a sparse crowd of 4,194, scoring two runs, driving in a pair and handling five chances in left field. The rookie outfielder's feats made it possible for Joe Nuxhall to register his first victory of the year. The veteran southpaw, who had lost his first three decisions, permitted only four hits, walked a couple and struck out five.

Robinson, the screwball throwing righthander, started for the Giants and turned in an admirable performance for five innings. He had a one-hit shutout and a 3-0 lead until the sixth when a single by Johnny Temple, Robinson's double and an infield out produced the first Cincinnati run. An error by catcher Wes Westrum gave the Reds another tally in that inning. Robinson tried to score on Wally Post's fly to Willie Mays in medium center and would have been out but Westrum dropped the ball.

Cincinnati took the lead in the seventh when Roy McMillan followed Ed Bailey's single with his second home run of the season. Gomez walked Nuxhall and with one out, Robinson rapped his eighth four-bagger of the year to give the Reds a substantial lead.

All Giant runs resulted from home runs. Daryl Spencer followed a walk to Mays in the fourth with his fourth home run and rookie Billy White made it 3-0 in the fifth with his fourth circuit wallop of the season. The loss, charged to Gomez, was his third against one victory.

Summerlin, Carter Meet In 10-Rounder

DETROIT (AP) — A pair of ambitious heavyweights, Johnny Summerlin and Harold Carter, square off in a 10-round battle tonight at Detroit's Olympia.

It is billed as another in a series of elimination bouts to find a successor to the title vacated by Rocky Marciano. For both Carter, ranked seventh among the heavyweights, and Summerlin, ranked fifth, it is the first "big" fight.

Carter, who makes his home in Linden, N. J., has had only 21 fights. He has won 18, half of them by knockout. He lost once and drew twice. Carter's only defeat was a TKO loss to Wayne Bethea, whom he later defeated twice on points. Carter celebrated his 22nd birthday just eight days ago.

His biggest victory to date was a decision in March over Bob Satterfield, who was scheduled to meet Summerlin. But Satterfield injured his elbow in training and pulled out of the fight a week ago.

The bout will be Summerlin's 36th. He has won 29, lost 4 and drawn twice. A resident of Detroit, Summerlin, 24, has a 11-fight win streak going and has won seven of them by knockout.

Although Carter got in only two days of work because of the short notice, his manager, Gene Holmes, says "Hal stays in good condition and we think we can take him."

KNOW YOUR GOLF

By TOMMY ARMOUR
A lot of golfers concern themselves needlessly about when to cock the wrists on the backswing. Many of them even make the mistake of "picking up" the club with wrist action at the moment they start the club head away from the ball. I say: Take the club back with a swinging motion of the shoulders and arms, and with no bending of the wrists! If your grip is correct the wrist action will take place automatically as you approach the top of your backswing and the weight of the club head asserts itself. Your footwork is the element that gets your body turning properly and enables you to take the club away in a swinging motion.

Omaha Shooter Sets Rifle Marks

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Two unofficial world records were reported set by George P. Herman, Omaha, Neb., during a bench rest rifle match at the John Zink ranch near Skiatook, Okla.

Herman's marks, subject to approval by the National Bench Rest Rifle Assn., were in the 220-yard and grand aggregate divisions of the shoot. He also won the 100-yard division.

Officials of the sponsoring rifle club were not available for details of Herman's performance.

The Detroit Tigers are affiliated with Syracuse, new team in the Class A Eastern League.

GOP Asks Equal Time To Answer Demo Debate

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 GOP Chairman Leonard Hall said Tuesday the Republicans want equal time on the air to reply to the Adlai Stevenson-Estes Kefauver debate in Florida even though it "hardly seems worth answering."

"The biggest flop of the year," Hall called this meeting of the two Democrats who are campaigning to get the nomination to run against President Eisenhower for president.

Stevenson and Kefauver are contesting for Florida convention delegates in the primary that comes up next Tuesday. The week following they will clash in California; the two primaries are expected to have a big part in deciding who wins the nomination.

In other political developments Tuesday:

Democrats in Missouri showed every sign of giving their favorite son support to Sen. Stuart Symington. He is scheduled to get all of Missouri's 38 convention votes at a state convention next week.

In the favorite son field, Symington has the advantage of being acceptable to organized labor leaders and Northern Democrats, while somewhat more acceptable to Southerners than some other possible nominees would be.

In Washington, Democratic Chairman Paul M. Butler called on Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) to apologize to union leaders for "making false accusations" to the effect that union members were being forced to contribute to political causes.

Borland AF ROTC Honorary Commander

Jack B. Borland of Lincoln, University of Nebraska freshman, has been elected squadron commander for next year of the Saber Air Command, the Air Force ROTC honorary society for basic students.

Other new officers, appointed by Borland, are:

Norman Huss, Wymore, executive; Roger Borland, Lincoln, adjutant; Kent Walton, Lincoln, personal; Richard Russell, McCook, controller; Dennis Johnston, York, public information; John Hanna, Salem, operations; Gordon Anderson, Lexington, pledges; Norman Chab, Croft, sports; Richard Bull, Lincoln, sergeant-at-arms; and Gary Aksham, Lincoln, provost marshal.

Mrs. Richardson's Services Friday

Funeral services for Mrs. Ona Pearl Richardson, 79, of 5411 Huntington, who died Tuesday, will be at 10:30 a.m. Friday at Roper and Sons.

Mrs. Richardson was born at What Cheer, Ia., in 1877, and had been a Lincoln resident since 1919. She had lived in Nebraska for 70 years.

She was a member of First Methodist Church of Lincoln. Survivors are her son, Douglas of Hastings; daughter, Mrs.

Charles West of Lincoln; sister, Mrs. Leota Sheets of St. Matthews, Ky.; brother, Phil Douglas of Exeter, and three grandchildren.

Fuel Purchase OK'd

The County Board has approved the purchase of 20,000 gallons of diesel fuel from the Lincoln Oil Company on the low bid of 10.50 cents per gallon. The purchase is for the county highway department.

Medical OK Given Norfolk Psychiatrist

Dr. Norman Render has resumed his place as psychiatrist at the Norfolk State Hospital after a delay in becoming licensed to practice medicine in Nebraska, it was learned Tuesday.

He joined the Norfolk staff last December but since February had been listed as assistant hospital administrator. His state license was dated Monday.

A provision of Nebraska law prevented the former head of the State Mental Institution at Clarinda, Ia., from being licensed in Nebraska through reciprocity with Iowa.

Nebraska law requires that when a physician comes from another state, his examination papers must be available for review by the Nebraska medical board unless he chooses to write the examination in this state.

Dr. Render had taken his examination under the National Board of Examiners, a private agency in Philadelphia, and his papers had been disposed of when the National Board moved a few years ago.

When the situation was discovered, Dr. Render faced the possibility of having to write both the Nebraska basic science and medical examinations this spring. But it developed later that the National Board had made a microfilm record, so enlargements were made and submitted to the Nebraska Board.

As a result, the only subject in which Dr. Render was obliged to write an examination for his Nebraska license was public health, which was not required at the time he began practice.

He took his examination May 2 and the State Medical Board reviewed his "papers" in other subjects when it met May 15.

Chairman Thomas Dreda of the board of control said Dr. Render's salary will be $13,800 a year. While he was prevented from practicing medicine, he was paid at the rate of $10,000 a year.

"Dr. Render was a good sport about all of this," Board of Control Member Charles Leeman commented.

Mansion Shrubs Transplanted To Statehouse Lawn

Shrubs and foundation plantings which were around the state executive mansion have been moved to new locations around the capitol as the first step toward erection of a new residence for Nebraska's governors.

The sod on the lawn has been sold.

Dismantling of the three-story frame Victorian style house is being delayed until the architects have finished their plans for the new mansion. Gov. Victor Anderson explained.

At least one fireplace and wood paneling from the present mansion will be incorporated in the new structure. The architect asked that the dismantling process be held up until he can determine just what can be used, the governor said.

Dr. Brown County Estate Tax $809

Inheritance taxes of $809.10 have been assessed in Lancaster County Court in the estate of Dr. Denton J. Brown, retired University of Nebraska professor who died Oct. 4.

The estate was valued at $42,864.38 at his death. Principal bequest was to the University Foundation to create a memorial fund to be used for the benefit of the chemistry department's faculty.

Other beneficiaries were a niece, Florence Brown Deakin of Manhattan Beach, Calif., and William J. Sloan of Brenham, Tex., son of his mother-in-law.

Farm-Grain Council Names 22

OMAHA 48 — The Nebraska Farm-Grain Council, Inc., a non-profit group organized recently to seek a change in present methods of taxing grain in Nebraska has named 22 state farm and business leaders to its advisory board.

The council, backing a grain tax amendment in this fall's election, wants the change in present methods of taxing grain because of "discrimination against Nebraska farmers and unfairness to the entire grain industry in Nebraska."

Nise Backers
The council now has the backing of the Nebraska Farm Bureau

Federation, The Nebraska Citizens Council, The Nebraska Farmers Union, The Nebraska Co-operative Council, the Nebraska Grain and Feed Dealers Assn., The Nebraska State Grange, the Nebraska State Legislative Tax Study Committee and the Nebraska Wheat Growers Assn.

"Other grain states in the Midwest have changed their tax laws so their farmers can market grain and seed when the price is right without paying an unfair share of taxes," Council President Owen Cotton said Tuesday.

Declaration March 1
The present Nebraska law requires grain and seed people to declare their holdings as of March 1 and be taxed on the value of the holdings. Sales before that date are in a depressed market, he explained. If the grain is not sold, the farmer or grain dealer who follows the letter of the law must pay an unfair share of taxes, the council claims, and such a situation does not make for orderly marketing of grain and seed. It also harms the state's agriculture.

Adlai Blames Ike In Military Bickering

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson Tuesday night accused President Eisenhower of failing to exercise "positive leadership" to end bickering between the various branches of the military.

The Democratic presidential contender leveled his charge in Lake City, a wry stop on a Florida campaign swing that led Tuesday from Miami through Tallahassee where he spoke on the State Capitol steps and at a Civic Club luncheon.

"I had hoped President Eisenhower, with his great military background, could be able to reduce rivalry and competition between the services," Stevenson said. He referred to Army-Air Force differences on effectiveness of Army antiaircraft guided missiles.

Stevenson said he believed that with positive leadership on the part of the President, the situation would improve.

Hits Farm Policy

The former Illinois governor, seeking Florida's 28 nominating votes in the state's presidential preference primary next Tuesday, assailed the administration farm policy which he said had resulted in a 27 per cent drop in farm prices during the past three years.

He told his listeners—from an area of strong pro-segregation sentiment—that desegregation is the law of the land.

But Stevenson said integration cannot be accomplished overnight. He urged patience and good will in solving the problem.

In Tallahassee, Stevenson charged the Eisenhower administration is not being candid with the people, particularly on foreign affairs.

He renewed his attack upon Sec retary of State Dulles and the Republicans in a campaign talk to a Civil Club luncheon crowd assembled at a Florida State University dining hall.

Simple Truth

"Probably the most important thing of the entire campaign is the necessity for a return to simple veracity—simple truth to the people," Stevenson said.

The Democratic presidential hopeful said that under the Republican administration the people had been "sold rather than told."

"This administration has given us the greatest display of huckstering, merchandising or whatever you might call it that the nation has ever seen," he said.

"Secretary of State Dulles was not being candid with the American people when he told them that the new Russian policy was a sign of weakness."

Florida's Gov. Leroy Collins, who has said he was neutral on the Stevenson-Kefauver rivalry, welcomed the former Illinois governor at a weekly meeting of the State Cabinet.

AGED NEED ACTION, NOT SYMPATHY—KEFAUVER

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Sen Estes Kefauver called Tuesday night for action rather than sympathy to help America's aged and needy in a talk capping a day of fast campaigning around the southern tip of Florida.

"I believe," Kefauver said, "that the foundation of good government is government with a heart, and not government by indifference."

In an address prepared for delivery over a television station here and in nearby Miami, the Tennessee Democrat bore down on Social Security in a state where many older people come to retire. It was a theme which Adlai Stevenson, his opponent in the Florida presidential primary next Tuesday, has sounded before.

Drop Age To 62

Like Stevenson, Kefauver proposed full Social Security benefits for women at age 62 instead of 65. He called for public assistance to elderly homeowners to help them "retain their homes."

He went beyond Stevenson to urge boosting from $53 to $100 a month the federal ceiling on matching funds put up to help the states take care of their needy.

By plane and bus and occasionally by foot, Kefauver put in a full day of hunting votes clutched hands and chatting with people on a swing from Miami down to Key West, the bottom end of Florida, back to Coral Gables and then to Hollywood and Fort Lauderdale.

'As President'

At the Key West City Hall, Mayor C. B. Harvey presented a key to the city and Kefauver grinned and remarked that he was going to use it "when I come back here as president, like Harry Truman did."

Kefauver told reporters Tuesday that he had been informed that a number of leftover copies of what apparently was a 1952 pamphlet had been distributed outside a radio-TV studio where he and Stevenson appeared last night—a pamphlet entitled "Red Record of Adlai Stevenson, Stalin's Choice for President."

The senator called it a "scandalous, scurrilous publication" and said, "I wish it to be known no supporter of mine is having anything to do with distribution."

Yank In Saigon

SAIGON, Vietnam (INS)—U.S. Assistant Defense Secretary Reuben Robertson arrived in Saigon for two-day talks with the Vietnamese government on proposals to finance and train the Vietnamese army.

Adlai Blames Ike In Military Bickering

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson Tuesday night accused President Eisenhower of failing to exercise "positive leadership" to end bickering between the various branches of the military.

The Democratic presidential contender leveled his charge in Lake City, a way stop on a Florida campaign swing that led Tuesday from Miami through Tallahassee where he spoke on the State Capitol steps and at a Civic Club luncheon.

"I had hoped President Eisenhower, with his great military background, could be able to reduce rivalry and competition between the services," Stevenson said. He referred to Army-Air Force differences on effectiveness of Army antiaircraft guided missiles.

Stevenson said he believed that with positive leadership on the part of the President, the situation would improve.

Hits Farm Policy

The former Illinois governor, seeking Florida's 28 nominating votes in the state's presidential preference primary next Tuesday, assailed the administration farm policy which he said had resulted in a 27 per cent drop in farm prices during the past three years.

He told his listeners—from an area of strong pro-segregation sentiment—that desegregation is the law of the land.

But Stevenson said integration cannot be accomplished overnight. He urged patience and good will in solving the problem.

In Tallahassee, Stevenson charged the Eisenhower administration is not being candid with the people, particularly on foreign affairs.

He renewed his attack upon Secretary of State Dulles and the Republicans in a campaign talk to a Civil Club luncheon crowd assembled at a Florida State University dining hall.

Simple Truth

"Probably the most important thing of the entire campaign is the necessity for a return to simple veracity—simple truth to the people," Stevenson said.

The Democratic presidential hopeful said that under the Republican administration the people had been "sold rather than told."

"This administration has given us the greatest display of huckstering, merchandising or whatever you might call it that the nation has ever seen," he said.

"Secretary of State Dulles was not being candid with the American people when he told them that the new Russian policy was a sign of weakness."

Florida's Gov. Leroy Collins, who has said he was neutral on the Stevenson-Kefauver rivalry, welcomed the former Illinois governor at a weekly meeting of the State Cabinet.

AGED NEED ACTION, NOT SYMPATHY—KEFAUVER

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver called Tuesday night for action rather than sympathy to help America's aged and needy in a talk capping a day of fast campaigning around the southern tip of Florida.

"I believed," Kefauver said, "that the foundation of good government is government with a heart, and not government by indifference."

In an address prepared for delivery over a television station here and in nearby Miami, the Tennessee Democrat bore down on Social Security in a state where many older people come to retire. It was a theme which Adlai Stevenson, his opponent in the Florida presidential primary next Tuesday, has sounded before.

Drop Age To 62

Like Stevenson, Kefauver proposed full Social Security benefits for women at age 62 instead of 65. He called for public assistance to elderly homeowners to help them "retain their homes."

He went beyond Stevenson to urge boosting from $55 to $100 a month the federal ceiling on matching funds put up to help the states take care of their needy.

By plane and bus and occasionally by foot, Kefauver put in a full day of hunting votes, clutching hands and chatting with people on a swing from Miami down to Key West, the bottom end of Florida, back to Coral Gables and then to Hollywood and Fort Lauderdale.

'As President'

At the Key West City Hall, Mayor C. B. Harvey presented a key to the city and Kefauver grinned and remarked that he was going to use it "when I come back here as president, like Harry Truman did."

Kefauver told reporters Tuesday that he had been informed that a number of leftover copies of what apparently was a 1952 pamphlet had been distributed outside a radio-TV studio where he and Stevenson appeared last night—a pamphlet entitled "Red Record of Adlai Stevenson, Stalin's Choice for President."

The senator called it a "scandalous, scurrilous publication" and said, "I wish it to be known no supporter of mine is having anything to do with distribution."

Stock Prices Wilt; Volume Lessens

NEW YORK (AP)—Prices wilted again in the stock market Tuesday, this time for the biggest decline since May 10.

For the most part, the performance was a slow settling-down process, with increased activity in two bursts of selling. Volume lessened whenever prices firmed.

Pivotal issues declined from about 1/4 to 1/2 but slightly improved at the close from their worst of the session. Wall Street observers described the drop to technical reasons in the absence of any bearish news of consequence while the action was in progress.

News that Ford Motor Co. would halt operations in three plants in the Cleveland area for two days because of a strike to affect that stock which did little during the day, closing off 1/4 at 54 1/2.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 12.40 to 1181.10, its lowest point since March 1 when it stood at 1180.10. The industrials were down $2.70, the rails $2.20 and the utilities $1.00.

Volume, at a moderate 200,000 shares, compared with 1,040,000 Monday.

The market, according to observers, will seek to find its floor with either to rebound upwards or else to go down further to establish a lower floor for a rally.

The decline on average represented an estimated loss of $2,000,000 in the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The market was lower from the start by fractions to around 11. In the second hour came the first sinking spiral which brought about a general retreat.

The second sharp sell-off came in the third hour. Henceforth, activity was quiet and volume was little improved.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange declined in active trading, with the industrials down $2.70, the rails $2.20 and the utilities $1.00.

NWU To Grant 5 Honorary Degrees

Nebraska Wesleyan University will confer honorary degrees upon two Nebraska pastors, two former Nebraskaans outstanding in business and public life and a visiting Indian churchman-educator in connection with 67th annual commencement exercises here June 4.

Chancellor A. Leland Forrest will confer the degrees as a traditional highlight of the commencement program.

Degrees will be awarded to: The Honorable Clarence A. Davis of Washington, D. C., acting Secretary of the Interior who was born, educated, practices law and served in public office in Nebraska. He is an alumnus of Nebraska Wesleyan and will receive the Doctor of Humane Letters.

Business Leader Guy E. Reed of Chicago, distinguished native Nebraskan who was a leader in Lincoln business circles and in the program of the University of Nebraska in the early days of his career and who since has become an outstanding civic leader in Chicago. He too will receive the Doctor of Humane Letters degree.

The Rev. Laurence R. Davis, Lincoln district superintendent of the Methodist Church, a Wesleyan alumnus and former U.S. Army chaplain who served Nebraska Methodist churches in Decatur, Oakland, Wahoo and Lexington before accepting the superintendency in 1955. He will receive the Doctor of Divinity degree.

Jay Singh

Reed

The Rev. J. LaVerne Jay, native of Nebraska Wesleyan who is now serving the Northeast district of the church as superintendent. The Rev. Mr. Jay has held charges at Wood River, Sargent, Tekamah and Auburn. He will receive the Doctor of Divinity degree.

The Rev. Mangal Singh of Delhi, India, a visiting scholar in the United States this year as part of the Indian delegation to the Methodist quadrennial conference. The Rev. Singh was born in a heathen section of India where literacy had not flourished. He became the first degree-holding native of his village as well as its first minister. He is widely known throughout his native land for his work in developing the Christian religion and for his interest in education. He will receive the Doctor of Divinity degree.

Wesleyan commencement exercises will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday, June 5, in Ira J. Taylor Physical Education Building. Kenneth I. Brown, executive director of the Danforth Foundation in St. Louis, will speak.

Farm Trip Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said President Eisenhower is likely to spend next weekend at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm after a speaking trip to Waco, Tex., on Friday.

The President is to receive a degree and deliver a talk at Baylor University in Waco Friday. Presumably he will go to Gettysburg the following morning.

Murray Snyder, the assistant White House press secretary, said Eisenhower is expected to return here the first part of next week, although he may go back to the farm for Memorial Day, May 30.

Maj. Gen. Sweeney To Inspect Air Base

Major General Walter C. Sweeney Jr., commander of Eighth Air Force, will arrive at the Lincoln Air Force Base Wednesday morning to perform a command inspection.

General Sweeney is expected to arrive at the Base early Wednesday morning and leave in the early afternoon for Forbes Air Force Base, Kan.

General Sweeney will be met by the base commanders and a color guard.

U.S. Watchmakers Ask That Congress Tax 'Up-Jeweling'

WASHINGTON (INS)—American watchmakers have asked Congress to halt what they charged is an evasion of the import tax on Swiss-made watches.

The Watchmakers Association proposed to leaders of the House Ways and Means Committee that a tax be imposed on importers who up-jewel watches.

The customs duty ranges from $2.60 to $3.75 for watches with 17 jewels or less and is $10.75 for watches with more than 17 jewels. Under the up-jeweling process, some U.S. firms import watches at the lower customs rate and then add jewels.

U.S. watchmakers who have asked Congress to impose a tax of $8 on up-jeweled watches say this would put imported watches on a par with their products.
